6 TONIGHT'S MATCHUP: NEBRASKA VS. TENNESSEE

By Jack Magruder, Arizona Daily Star

In a classic matchup, Tennessee returns to the site where they won the national championship a year ago while Nebraska will play in a record-tying sixth Fiesta Bowl.

12 SCOUTING REPORTS

By Mike Strange, Knoxville News-Sentinel and Ken Hambleton, Lincoln Journal Star

Tennessee was supposed to take a big step backwards this year after losing players like Peerless Price and Al Wilson to the NFL, but head coach Phillip Fulmer has put together a program that doesn't rebuild-it only reloads. Mike Strange gives us an inside look into a Volunteers team that played to its limit this year in attempting to defend their championship. After a disappointing first year as head coach some people questioned Frank Solich's abilities as head coach. That is no longer the case as Solich has Nebraska back to playing the kind of football that a whole state is proud of. Ken Hambleton gives us an in depth look at this year's impressive Cornhusker squad.

2000 TOSTITOS FIESTA BOWL

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

WELCOME TO THE NEW MILLENNIUM AND THE VALLEY OF THE SUN! GREAT PLAYERS, STORIED COACHES, GRAND TRADITIONS, LOYAL FANS. WHAT A NIGHT!

On behalf of the Fiesta Bowl Board of Directors and our more than 2,500 volunteers, I'm pleased to extend warm greetings to you and offer our thanks for joining us at the 29th Annual Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

All of us associated with helping to stage the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl are proud to be a part of the Bowl Championship Series. We staged the first unified national championship game right here at Sun Devil Stadium last year. We are one of the four premier college football bowl games. And tonight, we're very proud to host the fans, boosters, administrators, coaches and players from the University of Nebraska and the University of Tennessee.

The Cornhuskers and Volunteers have long-standing traditions of excellence and achievement on the gridiron as well as in the research laboratory and classroom. A good deal of the legend and lore of college football has its roots in these two proud institutions.

Thanks to you for joining us for this spectacular event and thanks also to the thousands of Arizona-based volunteers who do such a remarkable job of helping to make sure your stay is the best it can possibly be. We strive to provide a unique brand of Southwestern Hospitality. It's what sets the Fiesta Bowl apart and we hope you've experienced a very generous share.

So now please sit back and enjoy the 2000 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Football Classic!

Sincerely,

Win Holden

1999-2000 Fiesta Bowl President

NEBRASKA VS. TENNESSEE

BY JACK MAGRUDER

Tennessee quarterback Tee Martin threw only two interceptions in his final 179 regular-season pass attempts last season, and threw only nine interceptions with 12 touchdowns in 305 attempts this season. He rushed for another nine scores while gaining a net 317 yards.

Sophomore quarterback Eric Crouch has been a big-play performer since earning the starting quarterback position three games into the season. Crouch leads NU with 1,101 yards passing and also has 536 yards on the ground.

Welcome back, champ. Hey, King. What up? The stakes are different from the last time Nebraska and Tennessee brought teams to the Fiesta Bowl, but the prestige of the participants in this year's meeting is unquestionable.

Back in black (shirts) is 1995 national champion and No. 3-ranked Nebraska, which cemented its second consecutive NCAA title and ran its winning streak to 25 games with a 62-24 drubbing of Florida here on Jan. 2., 1996.

Returning with the Tee (quarterback Martin) is No. 5 Tennessee, which stopped Florida State, 23-16, here last season in a game that was not that close, enabling the Volunteers to celebrate their first consensus national championship.

The country is familiar to both. Nebraska has played in a record-tying six Fiestas and has recruited here for years. Coach Frank Solich will bring three more players home for the holidays this year, including star defensive back Mike Brown from Scottsdale. Tennessee need only look to the craggy peaks on either side of the Sun Devil Stadium to feel right at Rocky Top home.

"Obviously, we have very fond memories of last year and being here," said Tennessee coach Philip Fulmer, the winner of the Eddie Robinson Coach of Distinction Award as an accomplished mentor, role model, and coach.

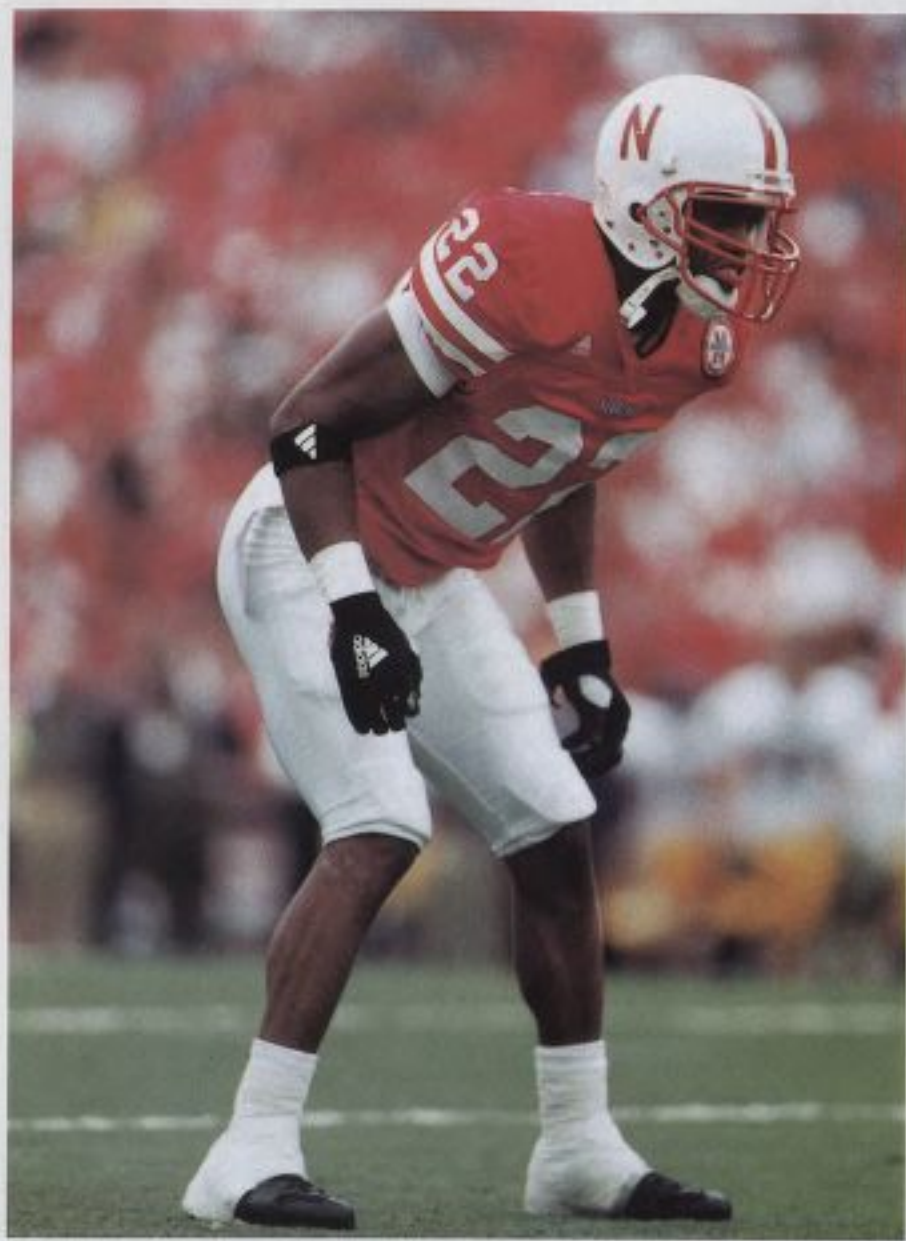

"Any time you get two teams in the top five, it's cause to celebrate," Fiesta Bowl executive director John Junker said. "They are also two teams that have a magical quality of tradition about them. They really are two of the top names in the history of college football, and two teams that don't play very often."

Indeed. As storied as the rivals are, their rivalry is only in the "terrible two" stage. The only previous meeting between Nebraska and Tennessee was in the FedEx Orange Bowl on Jan. 2, 1997 in Cornhusker coach Tom Osborne's last game, when the Huskers completed yet another undefeated season in a 42-17 victory that was good for a share of the national title. (Michigan was undefeated that year, too.)

The game left its impression on both programs. "We took some lessons from the Orange Bowl, and that really helped propel us to the season we had last year," Fulmer said. "Maybe we can give them a few more problems than the last time we played them."

No thanks to Nebraska this is not the same type of Tennessee team. Stung by the physicality the Huskers displayed in the Orange Bowl, the Volunteers made a commitment to offseason weight and conditioning work that paved the way for their national title last season.

Tennessee pushed Florida State around here last season, and has had its way with most opponents since. Like Nebraska almost always does. And did in dispatching Texas' hexes (the Longhorns had won three straight) with a 22-6 victory in the Big 12 Conference title game. "I can die now," Nebraska's Brown said after finally beating Texas.

What?

And miss this?

We didn't think so.

The matchup features passionate quarterbacks with successful, albeit greatly disparate styles, senior Martin and Nebraska sophomore Eric Crouch. Martin runs the conventional offense at Tennessee. Crouch just runs.

Each quarterback leads a back-to-basics offense that believes the shortest distance between two points is a straight line that goes through the middle linebacker's jersey. Each team has a defense that are just as rough and ready.

And each had dreams of making another national championship appearance that did not fade until the waning plays of the season. "If you look at our team this year, we are maybe six plays away from going undefeated," said Fulmer.

"We had a good season," said Solich, the Big 12 coach-of-the-year in his second season at the Huskers' helm. His 20 victories in his first two seasons are more than either Bob Devaney or Osborne had in that time.

"Personally, I feel there are five or six teams right now that could play for the national championship. Who knows who would win if you put any of those teams together. In Tennessee, we are playing one of those teams."

Martin has been a stalwart at Tennessee since replacing already legendary Peyton Manning, leading the Vols to 22 victories and only two defeats in two seasons. Strange, coming from a man whose first love was basketball. Say the password "hurricane" and you could play on Martin's goal in his backyard in Mobile. Martin was big a fan of the Miami Hurricanes at the time.

Stung by the physicality the Huskers displayed in the Orange Bowl, the Volunteers made a commitment to off-season weight and conditioning work that paved the way for their national title last season.

"Football was just something I stumbled into," Martin said.

The stumbling ceased long ago. Martin threw only two interceptions in his final 179 regular-season pass attempts last season, and threw only nine interceptions with 12 touchdowns in 305 attempts this season. He rushed for another nine scores while gaining a net 317 yards. His rushing TDs are two short of the school record set by Heath Shuler in 1992. Martin has thrown at least one touchdown pass in 19 of his 24 career starts.

If Martin is strong through the air, Crouch is more likely to beat you by land. A sophomore who did not become the starter until the third game of the season, Crouch finished with 889 yards rushing. He replaced starter Bobby Newcombe after Newcombe had led the Huskers to 42-7 and 45-0 victories.

"I thought things were working out pretty well as they were," Crouch said, surprised by the move despite starting five games for the injured Newcombe in 1998.

Crouch's signature run this season came in the season opener against Iowa, when he literally ran over a Hawkeye defender en route to a touchdown. Crouch has 21 rushing touchdowns in his 19 games with the Huskers, 16 this season. He also caught a touchdown pass.

"He is very stoic," his mother, Susan, told the Omaha World-Herald earlier this season. "The day his cat died when he was 12 and the day when they named (Newcombe) the starting quarterback ... those are the only two times I've seen him cry."

Opponents are crying now, and not only because of Crouch. Halfback Dan Alexander has 865 yards rushing out of the Huskers' option attack. Nebraska's one problem seems to be fumbles. It had 49, losing 24. It fumbled 10 times against Kansas State, losing three, but still won by 26 points.

Travis Henry, who developed into the go-to running back and has 790 yards rushing this season, will be back in action after a frightening, head-first spill onto the carpet in a season-ending victory over Vanderbilt. Henry was on the ground for 15 minutes before being taken off the field. His injury was diagnosed as a concussion. He had 179 yards rushing against Kentucky in Game 10, and 153 against Vandy before his injury. Jamal

Lewis leads the team with 816 yards, although his per-carry average is almost two yards' less than Henry's 6.3.

"I heard someone in the 18th row of the upper deck say, 'We love you, Travis,'" Tennessee punter David Leaverton said. "That's how quiet it was."

The Vols will face a Nebraska "blackshirt" defense that placed four players - Mike Brown, cornerback Ralph Brown, linebacker Carlos Polk and defensive tackle Steve Warren - on the first team All-Big 12 team. Mike Brown has led the conference in tackles the last three seasons, and has five interceptions and six caused fumbles this season. The defense ranks in the top seven in most major statistical categories in NCAA Division

1-A, and Osborne earlier this season called it the best he had ever seen in Lincoln.

Had not Texas returned a fumble - yes, another fumble - 20 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown, it was in danger of being shutout for the first time since 1980 in the Big 12 title game. The Blackshirts intercepted Longhorns quarterback Major Applewhite three times and sacked him seven other times. They recorded a safety when a shotgun snap meant for Applewhite got past him and through the end zone.

Nebraska has appeared in 31 consecutive bowl games, an NCAA record, and 38 overall. It has won at least nine games in 31 straight seasons. The Huskers have won 10 games six times in the 1990s.

Linebacker Raynoch Thompson led the Volunteers in tackles while safety Deon Grant was named to the 1999 Walter Camp All-American team. Grant led the Southeastern Conference with nine interceptions.

CORNHUSKER OFFENSE

BY KEN HAMBLETON LINCOLN JOURNAL STAR

Once they found where the pieces would fit best, Nebraska's offense recovered from a struggling 1998 for a superior 1999 season.

The Huskers had its lowest offensive output since 1976 when Nebraska battled through injuries that brought in three different starting quarterbacks, three different starting I-backs, after a series of injuries to linemen.

Many pundits predicted Nebraska would get back on track as long as Bobby Newcombe returned to full health and filled in at quarterback and DeAngelo Evans took over at I-back.

But two games into the season, Evans was gone after a dispute with head coach Frank Solich and Newcombe asked to make the switch to wingback, leaving sophomore Eric Crouch as the quarterback.

That seemed all the Huskers needed as they blew through the season with an 11-1 record, grabbed the Big 12 championship and beat every team on their schedule. Even in the one loss, a 24-20 upset at Texas that was later avenged in a 22-6 NU win in the Big 12 title game, the Huskers rolled up 429 yards of offense.

The only thing holding the Huskers back from a complete recovery on offense was the torrent of fumbles. The Huskers led the country, and possibly the world, with 25 lost fumbles and 49 fumbles for the season.

"It's pretty amazing we got as much done as we did, with all those fumbles," said Solich. "It shows we have a pretty good offense."

"We made gains in our running game and we made improvements in the offensive line. The development of Crouch enhanced our growth on offense."

Crouch was named the co-Big 12 player of the year. He raced to the head of the class by leading Nebraska in rushing. He finished with 889 yards on 171 carries and was the leading rushing quarterback in the country as well. His 16 touchdowns also led the nation's quarterbacks.

The rest of the Husker offense attack counted on the running of Dan Alexander and Correll Buckhalter, and steady receiving of Matt Davison and all-Big 12 tight end Tracey Wistrom.

Junior split end Matt Davison continues to climb the Husker receiving charts, leading the Huskers for the second consecutive season with 25 catches for 394 yards. He eclipsed the 1,000-yard mark for his career with 108 receiving yards against the Jayhawks, his second career 100-yard effort.

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

VOLUNTEER DEFENSE

BY MIKE STRANGE KNOXVILLE NEWS-SENTINEL

Except for a 28-24 loss at Arkansas, Tennessee's defense played well enough to win every game. Taking the cue from coordinator John Chavis, the Vols came into every game to be the aggressor, combining a strong front four with cat-quick linebackers and a veteran secondary capable of playing man-to-man coverage.

Senior outside linebacker Raynoch Thompson was a Butkus Award finalist. Thompson complemented his reputation as a ferocious hitter with three consecutive games with an interception. Interceptions are the specialty of junior free safety Deon Grant. Grant had nine of them to tie for the national lead. The Jim Thorpe Award finalist had three interceptions against Auburn, returning the opening play of the game for a touchdown.

The Vols' first commitment was to stop the run and make opponents one-dimensional. They ranked eighth nationally in rushing defense (89.6 yards) and allowed only three rushing touchdowns all season. Tennessee ranked 10th in total defense (297.7 yards) and seventh in scoring defense (14.8 points). Opponents converted only 29 percent of their third downs and gambling on fourth down wasn't a good idea (2-of-14) against the Vols.

Outstanding defense starts up front and Tennessee was blessed with quality and quantity. Sophomore Will Overstreet stepped up to be a top-notch end, playing opposite senior Shaun Ellis. At tackle, Darwin Walker is the strongest man on the team. When Billy Ratliff was lost for the season in early October, sophomore John Henderson took over at the other tackle. Outside linebacker

Eric Westmoreland is an unsung hero, playing both the run and pass tough. Corners Dwayne Goodrich and Andre Lott are put in the difficult position of playing man-to-man coverage and it's impossible to win every battle. Strong safety Fred White is really a fourth linebacker, his talents leaning toward stopping the run. Punter David Leaverton (42.6-yard average) has been the defense's 12th man by influencing field position.

Leading the Volunteer defense was senior outside linebacker Raynoch Thompson, who was named a Butkus Award finalist his year. Thompson complemented his reputation as a ferocious hitter with three consecutive games with an interception.

YOU MAKE THE CALL

The rare play, quirky bounce or bizarre situation can give college football referees instant headaches, especially since they are expected to make immediate decisions during the heat of battle. Under the gun, could you make the right call? Touchdown Illustrated gives you the whistle. Below are rulebook headaches designed to test your knowledge of the game. You be the ref!

HEADACHE #1

BRIGHAM YOUNG vs. COLORADO STATE

On second and 10 from the Brigham Young 40, Colorado State wide receiver Frank Rice goes in motion and stops. Before he is stopped one second, running back Kevin McDougal takes two steps back. As he stops, the Rams snap the ball.

YOU'RE THE REF:
What happens next?

ANSWER

The play is blown dead and Colorado State is penalized five yards from the previous spot. Once McDougal moves before Rice comes to a complete stop, the entire 11 men must be set for one second.

HEADACHE #2

SYRACUSE vs. MIAMI

Syracuse wide receiver Quinton Spotwood and Miami safety Al Blades run shoulder-to-shoulder down the left sideline. Blades has inside position. About 20 yards down field, Spotwood breaks to the inside and contacts Blades, who makes no effort to get to the pass.

YOU'RE THE REF:
What happens next?

ANSWER

Miami is flagged for defensive pass interference. Syracuse gets a first down 15 yards from the previous spot, in accordance with Rule 7, Article 3, Section 8, Part XV.

HEADACHE #3

NOTRE DAME vs. USC

Notre Dame wide receiver Bobby Brown and USC safety David Gibson run shoulder-to-shoulder down the right sideline. Gibson has the inside position. About 20 yards down field, Brown cuts to the middle, runs into Gibson and falls down. Seeing the contact, N.D. quarterback Jarious Jackson fires downfield toward Brown.

YOU'RE THE REF:
What happens next?

ANSWER

There is no foul and the pass is incomplete. According to Rule 7, Article 3, Section 8, Part XIII, because contact occurred before the pass was thrown, there is no interference.

HEADACHE #4

ARIZONA STATE vs. ARIZONA

About 10 yards downfield, Arizona State tight end Todd Heap cuts right across the middle. At the same time from the other side, tailback J.R. Redmond cuts left across the middle and in front of Heap. Redmond's cut leads Arizona linebacker Marcus Bell into Heap. The ball is thrown too high for Redmond to catch the ball.

YOU'RE THE REF:
What happens next?

ANSWER

There is no foul on the play. Pass interference would only be called if the pass was thrown toward Heap and been catchable, according to Rule 7, Article 3, Section 9, Part I.

CORNHUSKER DEFENSE

BY KEN HAMBLETON LINCOLN JOURNAL STAR

The only question left unanswered about the Nebraska defense is, "Are they the best ever?"

Nebraska defensive coordinator Charlie McBride said he would defer any response until after the bowl game. "But I can tell you this is the most fun, and least amount of coaching, I've had to do with any defense in 25 years."

Starting with seniors Mike Brown at rover and Ralph Brown at cornerback, the Huskers were expected to be solid in pass coverage. They finished third in the country.

With senior linebackers Tony Ortiz, Brian Shaw, Julius Jackson, Carlos Polk and Eric Johnson, the Huskers were expected to be strong against the run and pass. They finished sixth in the NCAA in rushing defense and fourth in total defense.

New starters at rush end, Aaron Wills and Kyle Vanden Bosch, and tackles Steve Warren and Loran Kaiser, gave Nebraska even more push against every offense it faced.

"They beat you, run by you and run over you," said Texas Coach Mack Brown. "I don't know if there is a faster defense or a smarter defense."

Nebraska allowed less than 13 points a game, allowed just 34 points in the first half in 12 games, posted two shutouts (actually four by the defense) and shut down everybody it faced.

As a result, the "Blackshirts", as the Husker defense is known, posted a school record 54 quarterback sacks for 405 yards in losses. The school record of pass breakups by Ralph Brown, a team total of 17 pass interceptions and a total of 40 points scored by the defense made this year's Huskers contenders for the title of "best of all time."

"It's kind of the old-time Nebraska defense everybody expects to see," said Brown. "Hit 'em and smile. Hit 'em again and walk away with a win. We did it over and over again. It really is a lot of fun."

The heart of the Nebraska defense, senior Mike Brown has topped the Huskers in tackles each of the past two seasons and is in the top five in career stops. A two-time Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week, Brown has been a key performer in a Husker defense that ranks in the top six nationally in all four defensive categories.

VOLUNTEERS OFFENSE

BY MIKE STRANGE KNOXVILLE NEWS-SENTINEL

Senior quarterback Tee Martin doesn't stick out in any statistical categories except the bottom line: He's 22-2 as a starter. His passing numbers are better than average, but don't tell the true story.

Martin has a penchant for making the big play, and he can do it running as well as throwing. With 317 rushing yards, he ranked third on the team behind Jamal Lewis and Travis Henry. His 16 rushing touchdowns set a Tennessee career mark for quarterbacks.

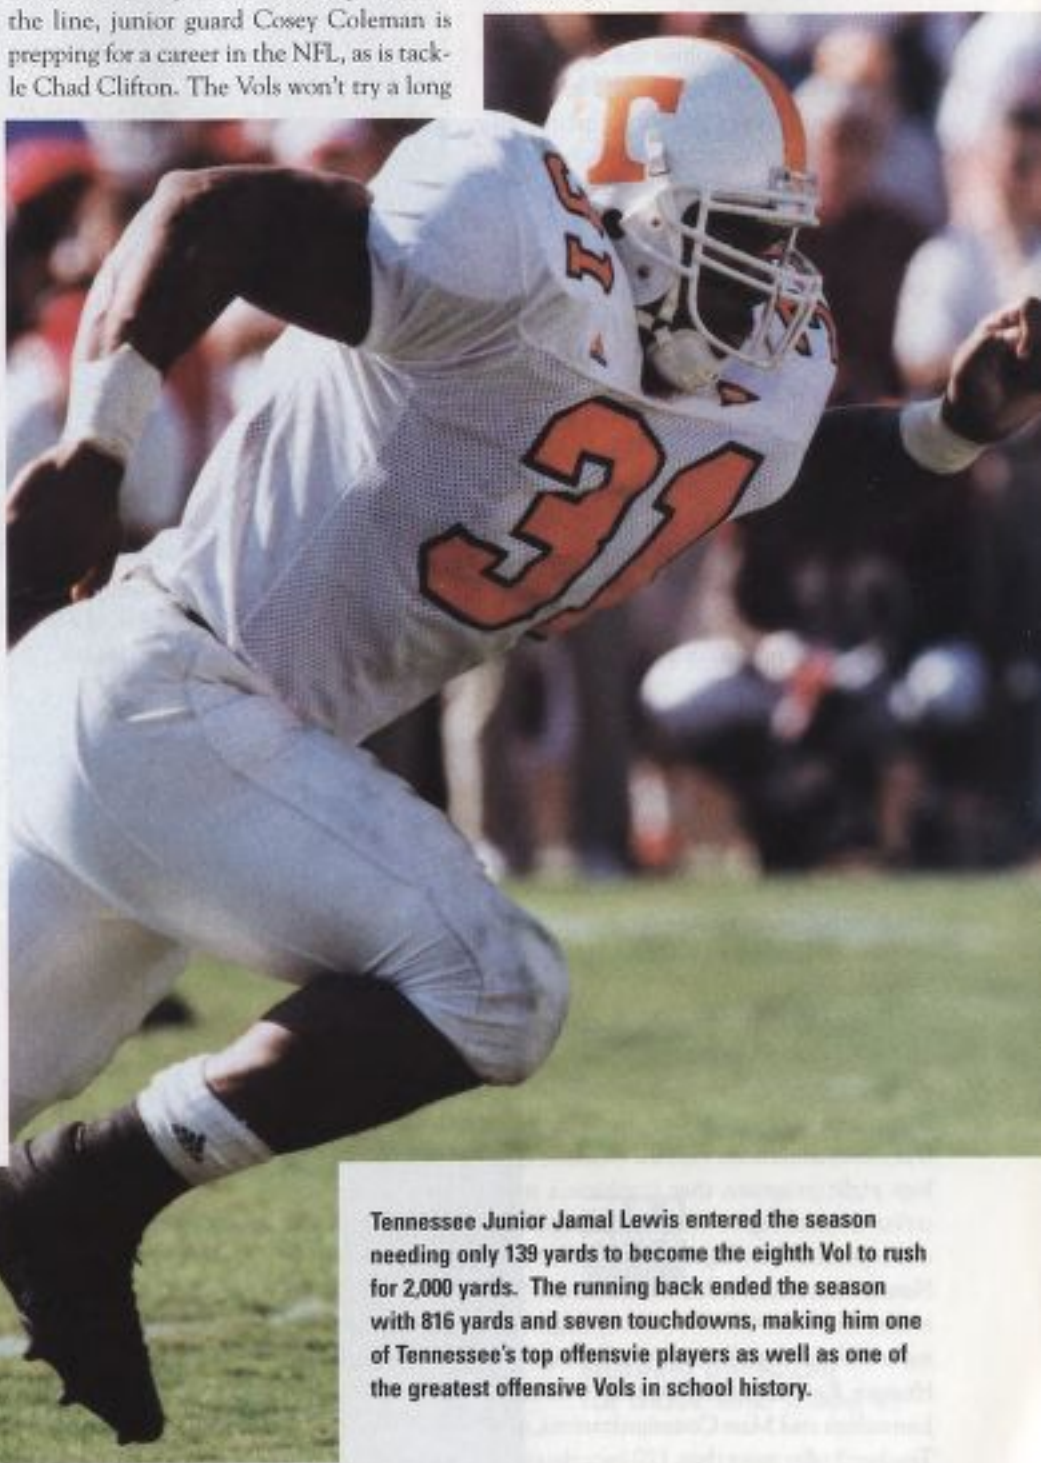

Despite leading the Vols with 816 rushing yards, nagging injuries made it a disappointing season for Lewis. Henry finished stronger, with 790 yards, and was the most productive back, averaging 6.3 yards per carry.

Freshman Onterio Smith is a star of the future, averaging 6.1 yards on 31 carries. Cedrick Wilson was the go-to receiver with 57 catches. His great hands and precise routes are the reason he's the first man Martin looks for. Eric Parker (30 catches), Donte Stallworth (23 catches) and David Martin (13 catches) emerged as the supporting cast. Parker doubles as a fearless punt-returner.

The Vols used more multiple-receiver sets as the year progressed because defenses stacked eight and even nine men to stop what turned out to be the SEC's leading rushing attack. If there is a missing ingredient, it's that the Vols lacked a dependable home-run receiver like Peerless Price was in 1998. Freshman receiver Leonard Scott is an NCAA sprint champion, but was more valuable as a kickoff-return threat. Tennessee's per-game yardage (406 yards) was virtually identical to 1998, but the production inside the 20 wasn't nearly as efficient. Up front in the line, junior guard Cozey Coleman is prepping for a career in the NFL, as is tackle Chad Clifton. The Vols won't try a long field goal, but Alex Walls was reliable from short-range.

Tennessee Junior Jamal Lewis entered the season needing only 139 yards to become the eighth Vol to rush for 2,000 yards. The running back ended the season with 816 yards and seven touchdowns, making him one of Tennessee's top offensive players as well as one of the greatest offensive Vols in school history.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

For nearly 130 years, the University of Nebraska has been the leading institution of higher education in the state.

With more than 22,000 current students and about 190,000 graduates, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is the largest campus in the university system and its principal doctoral degree-granting institution. While dedicated to providing the best educational experience for its students, the University also is committed to serving the citizens of the state with a variety of outreach and extended education programs.

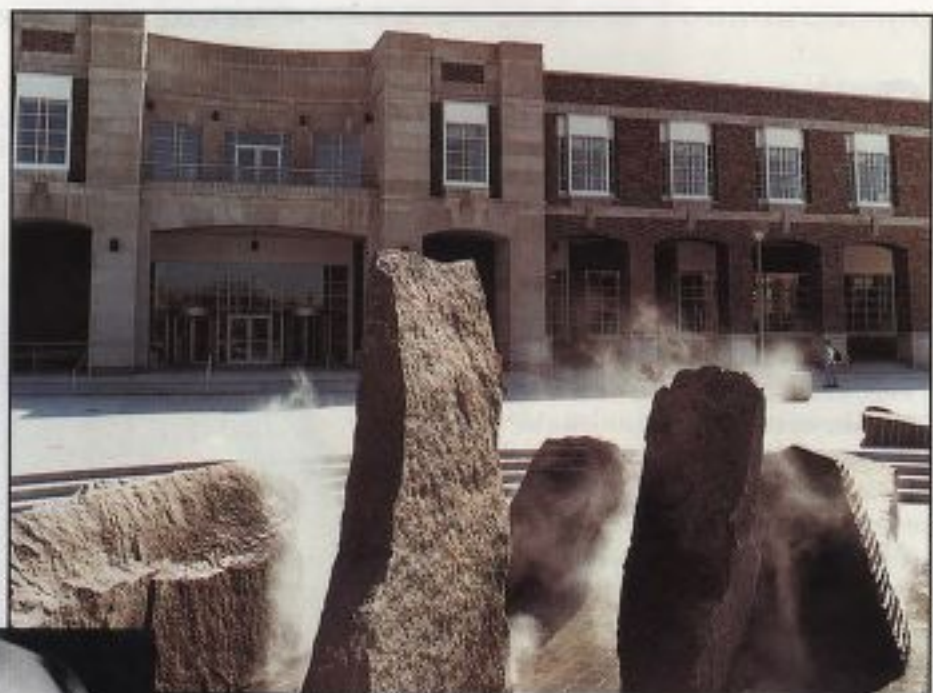

The University of Nebraska was chartered by the legislature in 1869 as the state's public university and land-grant institution. It was the first college west of the Mississippi River to confer graduate degrees. As the University system's most comprehensive entity, the Lincoln campus includes the agricultural components organized within the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

The University is a Carnegie Foundation Research Institution I, a member of the Association of American Universities and has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools since 1913.

The university offers 36 doctoral programs, 63 master's degree programs and five six-year specialist degree programs. The College of Law has a professional degree program and jointly administers with the Graduate College eight programs that combine a master's or doctoral degree with a law degree. Nine undergraduate colleges (Agriculture and Natural Resources, Architecture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering and Technology, Fine and Performing Arts, Human Resources and Family Sciences, Journalism and Mass Communications, and Teachers) offer more than 120 baccalaureate degree programs in the arts, sciences, humanities and professions.

The George W. Beadle Center for Genetics and Biomaterials Research was dedicated in 1995 and is one of the University's major facilities for science and technology. The center contains state-of-the-art laboratories devoted to research and development in biotechnology, biochemistry, biological materials and related fields. The center is named in honor of a Nobel Prize-winning geneticist and University alumnus.

The University reaches thousands of citizens across the state each year through outreach activities. The Cooperative Extension Service provides all Nebraskans with information and assistance in agriculture and natural resources, home economics, family living, 4-H and community resource development. Continuing Studies offers alternatives to formal on-campus education with programs such as Internet courses, summer reading courses, evening classes, independent study by correspondence, telecourses and study tours.

A number of specialized centers offer assistance to the state's citizens. For example, the Bureau of Business Research is a valuable resource for individuals and local governments. The Food Processing Center has helped hundreds of businesses with everything from product development to marketing, and the Technology Transfer Office expedites the movement of university-developed knowledge into real-world products and processes. The campus is home to the nationally renowned Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and Sculpture Garden, the Christlieb Collection of Western Art and several other galleries. The Lied Center for Performing Arts draws big-name acts in contemporary entertainment, and the University of Nebraska State Museum boasts a world-class fossil collection. ■

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

The University of Tennessee, the state's oldest and largest university, is one of the leading public institutions of higher education in the U.S.

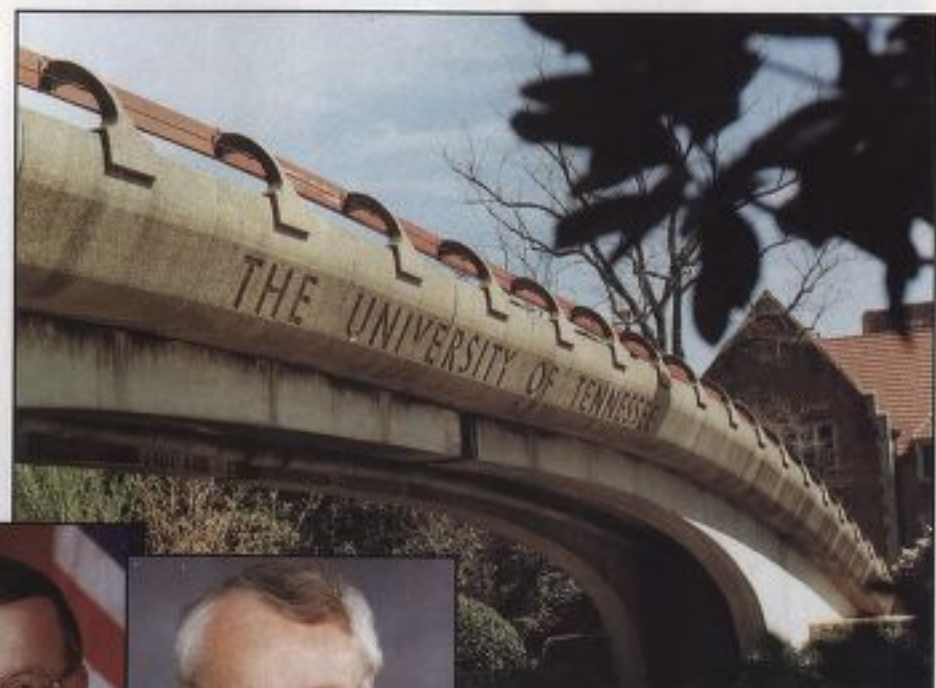

In 1968, the statewide University of Tennessee system was formed, with Knoxville as its flagship campus. The system also includes undergraduate campuses at Chattanooga and Martin and the health sciences center, headquartered at Memphis. The statewide University also includes three institutes—agriculture, public service and the Space Institute at Tullahoma. The University system is governed by a board of trustees, and the University-wide administration is located on the Knoxville campus.

UT offers undergraduate, graduate, and professional studies; conducts a vigorous research program; and shares expertise and resources with Tennessee communities, the state, and the nation through its programs of public service.

The University's 15 colleges and schools offer 250 degree programs to 25,000 students, who come from every county in Tennessee, every state in the nation, and 100 foreign countries. About 80 percent of students are full-time. Fifty-one percent are female; 49 percent are male. Eighty percent are Tennesseans.

UT offers the largest concentration of doctoral programs in Tennessee and is the only campus that offers courses in disciplines such as architecture, nuclear engineering, and veterinary medicine. UT is the only public university in Tennessee with the Carnegie Research I classification.

The faculty, which number more than 1,200, effectively blend teaching, research and service in educating students. The faculty and staff of Tennessee work constantly to enhance the quality of students' educational experiences, using information from student tests and surveys to improve teaching and student services.

The campus has Centers of Excellence in hazardous waste management, materials processing, and veterinary medicine, as well as the Science Alliance. The Alliance, the largest of Tennessee's Centers of Excellence, boasts a Distinguished Scientist Program that attracts eminent scientists to joint appointments at UT and ORNL and strengthens cooperative instructional and research programs between the two.

The campus has 65 endowed professorships and chairs, including 16 chairs of excellence. The chairs of excellence are cooperatively funded by the state and the University and filled by nationally known teacher/scholars.

The University libraries have more than two million volumes, with the bulk being located in the $30 million state-of-the-art John C. Hodges Library.

Through public service activities, the University of Tennessee extends its resources throughout the state and nation. Continuing education programs, offered in more than 40 locations across Tennessee, respond to the needs of numerous working adults who are seeking college degrees or preparing for career advancement.

Extracurricular activities abound at UT. Students can choose from more than 300 special-interest organizations that include residence hall associations, sororities, fraternities, and recreational, political, religious, and service groups. Cultural activities are numerous, and there are extensive intercollegiate and intramural sports programs. ■

Need volunteers? Call the big red team from Honeywell.

We can't promise that Lucy, Anita, Louis, Robert or Hattie will answer the phone when you call, but Honeywell has a group of active employees and retirees anxious to come to the rescue of non-profit agencies in need of volunteer help in the Valley.

Honeywell has long been a source of volunteers, but now we've created Honeywell Volunteers of Arizona, an organization operated by our retirees to better handle the many requests we get for help. If you have been getting volunteers from one of our many active groups, like HERO, there's no need to worry because their members will still be very active as we all work together to get you the kind of help you need. They all wear the bright red T-shirts designating them as Honeywell volunteers.

We contribute to the success of a wide range of non-profit organizations in the Valley through our donations of more than $2 million annually, but it is in our volunteer efforts that we experience the great feeling that comes with helping our neighbors.

Recognized 501(c)3 agencies are encouraged to call the big red team, Honeywell Volunteers of Arizona, at 602-313-6420.

WIN HOLDEN LEADS FIESTA BOWL IN MILLENNIUM SEASON

1999-2000 Fiesta Bowl President Win Holden and his wife, Carolyn

YOU MIGHT SAY THAT WIN HOLDEN WAS ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN DURING HIS FIRST TOUR OF DUTY AS A FIESTA BOWL VOLUNTEER.

After attending the Fiesta Bowl Band Pageant in 1983, Win and his wife, Carolyn, thought it would be a good idea to become full-fledged volunteers - you know, get to hang out behind the scenes, make decisions, play a major role in one of the Fiesta Bowl's most popular events.

"So we picked up the phone and called the bowl office to become volunteers," Win said.

"Nobody knew me from Adam, but they were very receptive to including us as volunteers."

Their first assignment: "We directed traffic in the north parking lot at Sun Devil Stadium," he said. "We didn't even see the Band Pageant. We found out right away that there are several different facets of being a volunteer, and not all of them are glamorous."

"But we enjoyed every second of it and knew that the Fiesta Bowl was something we wanted to make an important part of our lives."

It was a good decision for the Fiesta Bowl and Win Holden, as he was named the bowl's 29th President in January 1999 and lived up to his word by including all three of his children - Chris, Allison and Emily - in several Fiesta Bowl activities throughout the years.

Allison, a senior at Northern Arizona University, and Emily, a sophomore at Arizona State, have assisted with the Parade and Band Pageant. Chris, a news producer at KTVK-TV 3, was Wilbur the Wildcat, the official mascot of the University of Arizona, when the Wildcats played Miami in the 1994 Fiesta Bowl.

"Carolyn and I have always believed that it is very important to participate in the community," Win said. "Even if it's a small role, our family knows first-hand that even one person can really make a difference."

Win might not park cars at your son or daughter's wedding, but he is involved in as many community organizations as any person you'll ever meet. Aside from his presidency with the Fiesta Bowl, he is currently Chair of the Phoenix Pride Commission, Chair of the PMH Health Systems Strategy Group Board of Directors, on the Executive Committee of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, the ASU College of Extended Education Dean's Council and on the Executive Committee of the Phoenix Violence Prevention Initiative.

When the clock hits 0:00 in the 29th Annual Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, Win says that the opportunity to lead such a hard-working and dedicated group of volunteers during a non-championship year will be the highlight of the year.

"Our original theme at the beginning of the year was 'Celebrate,'" Win said. "We have had a commitment from our 2,500 volunteers statewide to celebrate the bowl's achievements and continue to build on this for years and years to come. That's been the most important thing to me this year."

"I'm proud to be a member of the Fiesta Bowl Family and if necessary, I'm even ready to help direct those buses in the parking lot again!"

"THE BEST OF TIMES"

From its modest beginnings, the MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade has grown into one of the top six parades in the nation, with a tradition of spectacular pageantry, music and color.

The 1999 parade included crowd-pleasing entries such as the World Famous Budweiser Clydesdales, the Marching Cobras and the Southshore Drill Team, 18 spectacular floats, designed by Studio Concepts Inc., and 20 precision marching bands.

Once a year, along Central Avenue in downtown Phoenix, more than 400,000 people get together to witness one of Arizona's most spectacular presentations of pageantry, music and color. For many, the MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade provides the "Best of Times", this year's parade theme, where smiling faces annually brighten the parade route.

Now rated as one of the top six parades in the nation by USA Today, the MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade has become a gallant tradition, although it began very modestly.

The inaugural Fiesta Bowl Parade, held in 1972, was called the Fiesta Bowl Balloon Parade. Leftover balloons from the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade floated down Central Avenue and featured characters like Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus, Snoopy, Superman and a four-story Santa Claus. More than 300 Boy Scouts guided the balloons along the 2.5-mile route.

Throughout the years, the parade has developed its own identity, while garnering outstanding ratings on a national telecast and showcasing some of the biggest names as grand marshals, including American heroes like Senator John Glenn and Chuck Yeager, baseball legends like Tommy Lasorda, Ryne Sandberg and George Brett and Olympic gold medalists like Kerri Strug, Kristi Yamaguchi, Janet Evans and Charles Barkley.

The APS Volunteer Clown Troupe thrilled children of all ages and the march of the Play-it-Again Band had the crowd clapping to the beat.

The 1999 version of the parade, held on Friday, Dec. 31, delighted everyone in attendance. The APS Volunteer Clown Troupe thrilled children of all ages, the march of the Play-it-Again Band had the crowd clapping to the beat, and Spirit, the Fiesta Bowl mascot, brought smiles as he brightened the signature path of the event. Crowd-pleasing entries included the World Famous Budweiser Clydesdales, the Marching Cobras and the Southshore Drill Team, 18 spectacular floats, designed by Studio Concepts, Inc., and 20 precision marching bands.

The parade was televised to a national audience of millions on Fox Family Channel and continued to receive record ratings on the local telecast on KTVK-TV Channel 3.

More than 600 volunteers promoted and staged the 29th Annual MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade. These dedicated individuals worked countless hours throughout the year to guarantee a first-class event.

"The MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade is a source of pride for everyone involved — the spectators, the volunteers, the bands," parade chair Jay Jennings said. "This is one event that just gives you a real warm feeling to see so many people enjoy all of the work we do during the year. We really owe a lot to all of our volunteers for their continued dedication to this community treasure we call the MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade."

Bowl Queen

At an event that has as much tradition and history as the Fiesta Bowl Football Classic and Parade, Summer Lee was crowned the 29th Wells Fargo Fiesta Bowl Queen.

On a festive night at The Buttes: A Wyndham Resort in Tempe, Summer was selected to reign over the 1999-2000 Fiesta Bowl Festival at the annual Wells Fargo Fiesta Bowl Queen's Gala presented by JCPenney.

Joining her on the Court are first runner-up Amanda Blaska, Dana Crouse, Katie-Daryl Sotak and Lisa Marie Vincijanovic.

The event, which was held on August 27, included hundreds of the bowl's volunteers and sponsors. Robin Sewell of ABC 15 emceed the evening and conducted a question and answer session with each of the finalists following individual video presentations.

Summer has been active in many facets of student life while attending Arizona State University and plans to eventually make the Phoenix area her permanent home.

Wells Fargo provides scholarships for the Queen and Court, in addition to Eller Media Company who signed on as Associate Scholarship Sponsor in 1998. JCPenney again provided the wardrobe for the Queen and Court throughout the year.

The queen and court were selected from more than 100 applicants through interview sessions that began in March. The field was narrowed down to 40, then 20 and finally five finalists. Judging was based on scholastic achievement, poise, citizenship, community involvement, personality and appearance.

The Queen and her four-member court represented the Fiesta Bowl at many of the

GREAT DAYNE

There is a refreshing dichotomy that exists within the 5-10, 254 pound frame of University of Wisconsin running back and 1999 Heisman Trophy winner Ron Dayne.

On the football field, Dayne runs with a sense of power and purpose, knocking over defenders like a bull and requiring enormous effort to bring him down. Using strength, determination, and deceptive speed, Dayne overcame defenses keyed specifically to stop him en route to setting a new NCAA career rushing record of 6,397 yards. He surpassed the standard of 6,279 yards set by last year's Heisman recipient, Ricky Williams of the University of Texas.

Off the field, Dayne, who became Wisconsin's second Heisman winner (Alan "The Horse" Ameche, 1954), is a soft-spoken gentleman and devoted father to his two-year-old daughter, Jada. He loves to spend time with children and accepts his responsibility as a role model in the community.

Focused intently upon team goals, Dayne recognized his personal achievements transpired due to the diversity and union of his teammates, specifically the offensive line. When linemen and a talented back work together in synchronicity, the results are quite memorable.

Dayne's run for the Heisman began last New Year's Day, when he pummeled the UCLA defense for 246 yards and four touchdowns during a decisive Rose Bowl victory.

All eyes keyed on him as a leading candidate when the 1999 college football season started, and he didn't disappoint. Rushing for 1,834 yards despite sitting out six quarters in lopsided victories, Dayne asserted himself with 200-yard efforts in three of the last four games and averaged at least 5.0 yards per carry in eight games. Only Michigan (88 yards) and Minnesota (80 yards) were able to contain him.

It was Wisconsin's game at Ohio State, following its defeat to Michigan, which catapulted Dayne into a lead position in the Heisman race. Although ranked No. 12 in the national polls at the time and playing home, the Buckeyes succumbed to the merciless pounding delivered by Dayne and his offensive linemen. A 161-yard, four-touchdown performance gave the Badgers a decisive 42-17 win.

Three games later, Dayne again appeared on all of the highlight shows with a monumental day against the nation's best rushing defense, Michigan State. The Spartans surrendered only 39.9 ground yards per game — until the arrival of Dayne. On Wisconsin's opening drive, he gained 72 yards, and proceeded to total 214 yards and two scores in a 40-10 victory.

With momentum on his side, Dayne finished the season with 162 yards against Northwestern, 222 yards against Purdue, and 216 yards against Iowa, including a 31-yard run that gave the Wisconsin running back the all-time career rushing record.

While fans in America's heartland were treated to the powerful style of Dayne, a dynamic, multiskilled quarterback from Georgia Tech thrilled gridiron followers down South. And in the process, made himself worthy of Heisman consideration.

Joe Hamilton, the Atlantic Coast Conference's Player of the Year, forced defenses to respect both his arm and his running ability and with good reason. Completing 66% of his passes for 3,060 yards and 29 touchdowns was part one of the Hamilton equation. Part two included 734 rushing yards, 4.8 yards per carry, and six ground scores for the year.

The more than 800,000 men and women of the U.S. Postal Service bring the same strength through diversity of talent to the workplace that Ron Dayne and his teammates brought to Wisconsin. By embracing and celebrating the many cultures represented within the Postal Service, the organization strengthens itself through unparalleled opportunity for personal and professional development. ■

"75,000 REASONS TO QUACK"

12TH ANNUAL BANK OF AMERICA FIESTA BOWL DUCK RACE

PRESENTED BY ABC 15

You've probably read this before — the Bank of America Fiesta Bowl Duck Race presented by ABC 15 is the largest in the world.

Yes, once a year in the Valley of the Sun, more cute, little rubber ducks cruise down the Salt River Project canal than anywhere else in the world. 1999 was no exception.

It marked the eighth consecutive year as the world's largest, as 75,000 quackers were adopted and raced in the 12th Annual Bank of America Fiesta Bowl Duck Race presented by ABC 15.

Where there are ducks, there are usually plenty of smiling faces. On Sunday, October 17, nearly 5,000 people lined the canal and watched three live ducks lead the pack of 75,000 rubber ducks to the finish line.

With 114 prizes valued at more than $100,000, several of those smiles became even bigger, especially for Todd Bowerman, who won the grand prize, a 1999 Isuzu Pickup, courtesy of Chapman Isuzu.

The event once again benefited the non-profit Scottsdale Prevention Institute and the non-profit Fiesta Bowl. Ducks were adopted for $5 each, while corporate duck adoption packages were also sold. For the second consecutive year, several Bank of America charities were also beneficiaries of this charitable event.

Ducks were made available to the public by calling the quackin' hotline at 276-DUCK or by stopping by any of the Bank of America banking centers throughout the state of Arizona.

Dallas Drake, the hard-hitting and fearless star of the NHL's Phoenix Coyotes, adopted the first duck on the ice at America West Arena, just minutes before the Coyotes final preseason game against San Jose.

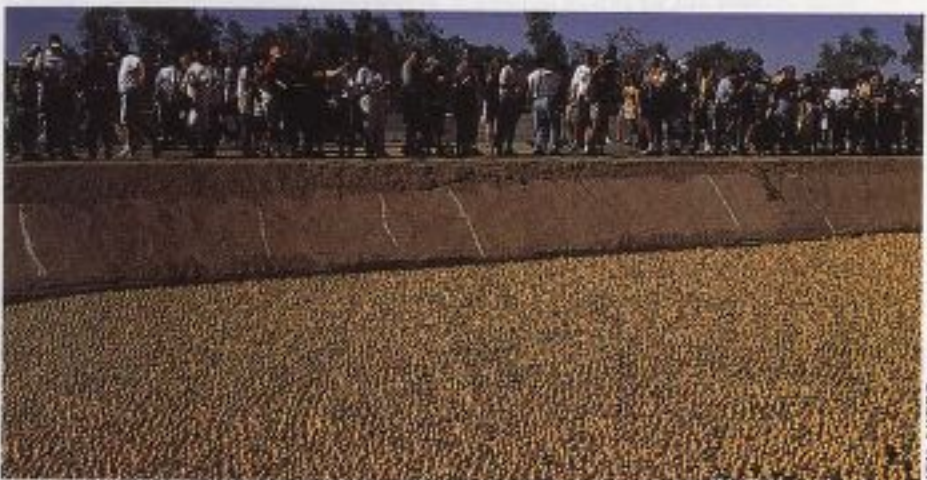

Aside from the grand prize Isuzu Pickup, other prizes included a one week vacation in Cabo San Lucas, various vacation packages provided by Delta Air Lines, dinners, shopping sprees, certificates, golf outings and tickets to athletic events.

Craig Fouhy of ABC 15 served as emcee for the event.

The Scottsdale Prevention Institute provides prevention and counseling services for youth in elementary, middle and high schools who are using and abusing chemical substances or who may be at risk. Funds raised from the Duck Race are used toward the continued development, implementation and sponsorship of model programs, involving the entire Phoenix-area community in youth drug and alcohol abuse prevention and intervention.

THE BLUE CROSS BLUE SHIELD OF ARIZONA FIESTA BOWL NATIONAL BAND CHAMPIONSHIP

"MUSICIANS KICK-OFF THE NEW YEAR WITH FLARE"

Competing bands are judged on musical performance, visual performance and general overall effect by a panel of distinguished band directors from all across the nation.

On the first day of the millennium, the Fiesta Bowl hosted one of the most spectacular marching band competitions in the nation, showcasing eight high school marching bands and more than 1,500 of the most talented young musicians in the nation.

The Blue Cross Blue Shield of Arizona Fiesta Bowl National Band Championship is one of the Fiesta Bowl Festival's longest running events, just celebrating its 22nd year. On Saturday, January 1, in Bank One Ballpark, the event brought together eight of the top marching bands in the nation, all vying to win the Grand Master's Trophy in one of the most prestigious competitions of its kind.

This exciting field show featured the pageantry corps competing for the coveted Grand Master's Trophy. Each school, armed with everything from trumpets to flags, performed their best 10-minute field show.

The competition itself was judged by band directors from across the nation, all of whom have been honored for their involvement with active and competitive marching band programs. Judging criteria is based on musical performance, visual performance and general overall effect.

In its 22 years, the Blue Cross Blue Shield of Arizona Fiesta Bowl National Band Championship has received an unprecedented amount of national attention and publicity.

Title sponsor Blue Cross Blue Shield of Arizona has been involved with the Band Championship since 1991, with special thanks to ABC 15 as the exclusive television partner. It's the color, pageantry and music that makes this one of the Fiesta Bowl's most exciting events, packed with history and tradition.

HISTORY OF THE FIESTA BOWL

VALLEY BUSINESS LEADERS HELP TURN A DREAM INTO REALITY

A LONG TIME AGO, THE THOUGHT OF A BOWL GAME AND FESTIVAL OF EVENTS IN ARIZONA WAS SIMPLY A CRAZY IDEA. COULD IT EVER GET STARTED? COULD IT BE SUCCESSFUL? WOULD ANYONE CARE?

More than 30 years later, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl has hosted four national championship games and continues to pioneer the way collegiate post-season football is celebrated. The Fiesta Bowl Festival consists of 51 year-round spectator and participatory events. And more than 2,500 volunteers dedicate their time and effort to making the Fiesta Bowl "America's Number One Bowl Game."

It was just a dream that has become a reality.

It all started in 1968 when former Arizona State University President G. Homer Durham spoke to an athletic awards banquet and proposed that Phoenix should have a football bowl game.

The idea could have died right there, as it had several times in the past. But Arizona Republic sports editor Verne Boatner wrote a column supporting the idea, and several Valley of the Sun businessmen banded together to bring a bowl game to Phoenix.

Getting a bowl game anywhere is a long shot. Countless contingencies from cities all over the country had paraded before the NCAA's Extra Events Committee, lavish presentations in hand, only to be told, "No, the NCAA doesn't need another bowl game."

And in December of 1968, a bowl game for Phoenix was merely an idea, let alone a well thought out plan to place before the NCAA.

But then things started to roll. Prominent Valley sports enthusiast Glenn Hawkins called a meeting of the area's top community leaders, who ultimately put together the package that was to become one of the most phenomenal stories in bowl history.

"There was a lot of interest," Boatner said at the time. "A lot more than I thought there would be. I didn't believe that so many influential people could be brought together in one place."

Jack Stewart, who was one of the driving forces for bringing the game to Phoenix, was elected to head the effort. He and the current original members of the executive committee — Hawkins, George Isbell, Jim Meyer, Donald D. Meyers, Karl Eller, Bill Shover and George Taylor, later to be joined by Don Dupont — put together the successful plan that would get an NCAA sanction for the game.

Key to the Fiesta effort was to win over the Western Athletic Conference for a tie-up. Then WAC Commissioner Wiles Hallock provided the direction to achieve that — his immediate past position had been that of Director of Public Relations at the NCAA's headquarters in Kansas City.

With Hallock along, the Phoenix group appeared before the NCAA Extra Events Committee on Jan. 10, 1970, in Washington D.C. It was at that time that the group proposed to make the bowl a charitable venture, with portions of the proceeds committed to the fight against drug abuse. This was to be a key point for the Fiesta Bowl. The NCAA had granted only one new bowl during the 1960s — Atlanta's Peach Bowl, also a charity game.

The Fiesta's effort, however, was thorough. Then Washington State athletic director and chairman of the NCAA Extra Events Committee Stan Bates said that he never had seen a group as well prepared. A few months later, Bates would become commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference after Hallock moved to the Pacific-8 Conference.

The group stressed vital points in its presentation. They told the NCAA that the Rose Bowl was the only bowl game outside of the South and that Arizona had the population and the climate, the game would be played for a worthy cause and they hastened to add that good WAC teams had been overlooked for bowl appearances in the past.

"Your presentation was so well received that I can think of no important questions to ask," Bates said afterwards.

But victory was to be farther away. On April 27, 1970, the NCAA Council, the official policy-making body of the organization, rejected six bowl bids, including one for the Valley of the Sun.

The group could have taken the defeat and moved on in their lives. Instead, they kept on fighting. A year later, on April 26, 1971, the NCAA Council approved a bowl game in Arizona, and the Fiesta Bowl was born.

Now, more than 30 years after the idea was conceived, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl is setting the standard for other bowls to follow.

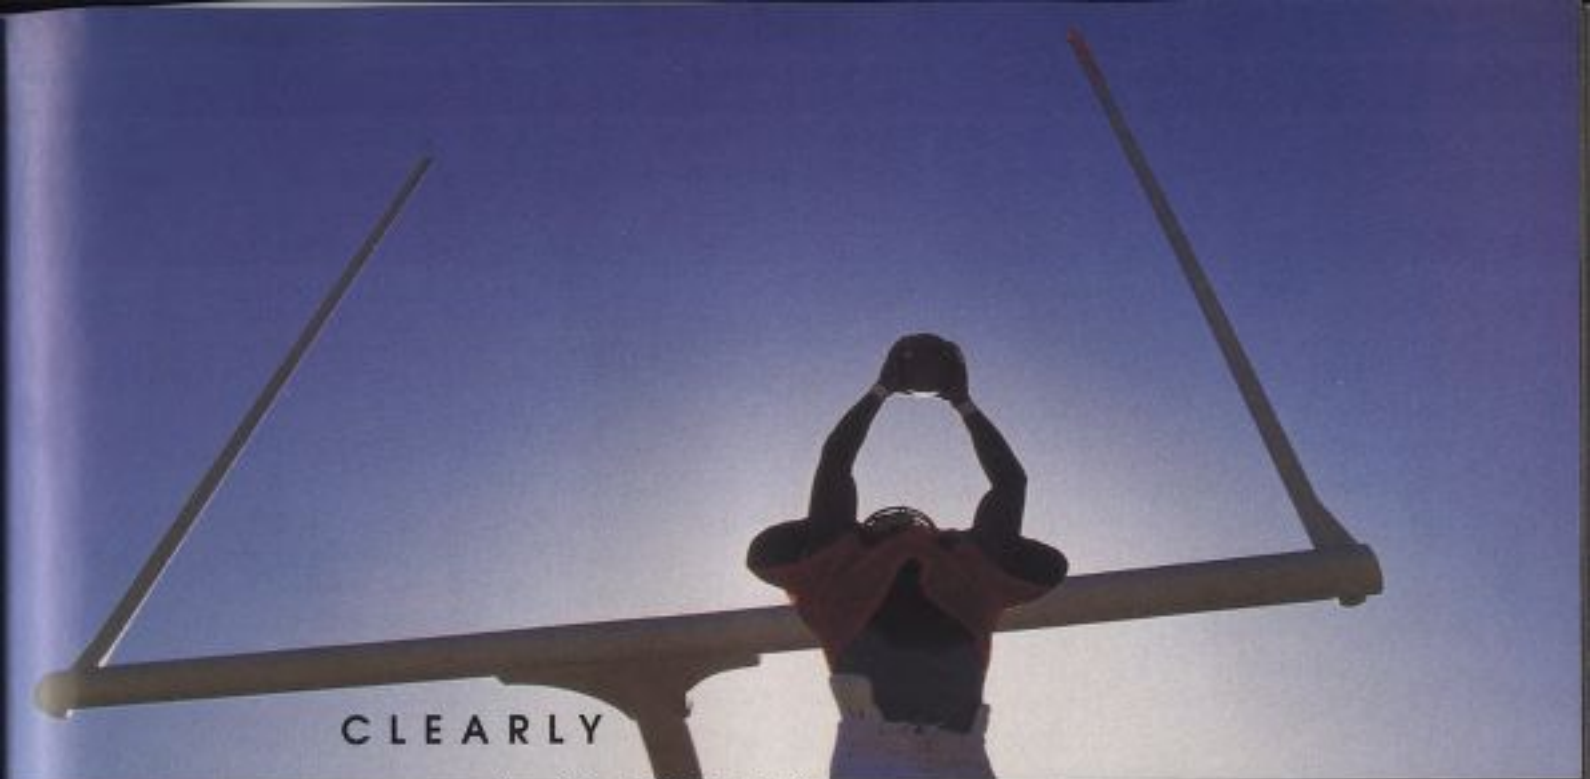

Highlights of the Fiesta Bowl include:

Dec. 19, 1969 — A committee of nine community leaders is formed to coordinate efforts to start a bowl game in Arizona.

The nine original members of the Fiesta Bowl board of directors were: Don Dupont, Karl Eller, Glenn Hawkins, George Isbell, Jim Meyer, Don Meyers, Bill Shover, Jack Stewart and George Taylor.

April 26, 1971 — The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) approves the application made by the Arizona Sports Foundation for an Arizona-based bowl game at the annual NCAA meetings held in Houston.

June 10, 1971 — A contest is co-sponsored by the Arizona Sports Foundation and the Arizona Republic to "Name the Bowl Game." More than 6,500 entries are received, and 73 of the entries choose the name Fiesta. In a blind drawing of the 73 winning entries, 30 years after its inception, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl is still setting the standard for other bowls to follow.

Gary Keltner is the lucky winner and walks away with four lifetime tickets to the Fiesta Bowl Football Classic.

Dec. 21, 1971 - The First Annual Fiesta Bowl Ice Cream Eating Contest is held at Diamond's Department Store at the Thomas Mall. A team of five girls defeats a team of five boys who each had to eat a bowl of ice cream that consisted of vanilla, raspberry sherbert, almonds and chocolate sprinkles.

Dec. 26, 1971 - Arizona State University student Patricia Ferro is crowned the first Fiesta Bowl Queen at an event held in conjunction with the Martha Mitchell Fashion Fiesta and Goldwaters' Style Show at the Mountain Shadows Hotel in Scottsdale.

Dec. 27, 1971 - The first Fiesta Bowl Marathon is held and attracts 127 runners.

The winners of the race are introduced at halftime during the First Annual Fiesta Bowl Football Classic.

Dec. 27, 1971 - The years of hard work finally payoff when Arizona State plays Florida State in the inaugural Fiesta Bowl game. The Sun Devils win a 45-38 shootout over the Seminoles in front of 51,098 fans. A record $168,237 is paid to each team, which at that time was the highest payout ever for a first-year bowl game.

Dec. 16, 1972 - The inaugural Fiesta Bowl Parade is held and begins an era for the Fiesta Bowl that shows a tremendous growth in pageantry-oriented events. The first Parade features 45 balloon-type entries, including a four-story Santa Claus, that are guided down the route by more than 300 Boy Scouts in front of 25,000 street spectators.

Dec. 27, 1973 - The Fiesta Bowl begins a national junior tennis tournament that has featured some of the game's best, including Tracy Austin, Michael Chang and Andre Agassi.

Dec. 27, 1974 - Bleachers are erected for the first time along Central Avenue, and the Fiesta Bowl Parade attracts more than 100,000 street spectators.

Dec. 28, 1974 - CBS televises the first national network telecast of the Fiesta Bowl, as Oklahoma State grinds out a 16-6 victory over Brigham Young. CBS covered Fiesta Bowl games from 1974 through 1977 and returned to televise the Fiesta Bowl during the Bowl Alliance from 1996 through 1998.

Dec. 28, 1975 - Arizona State and Nebraska, with respective records of 11-0 and 10-1, combine for the best overall regular season record of any non-New Year's Day game. The Sun Devils hang on for a thrilling 17-14 victory, and finish second in the final national polls. Many believe this was the game that put the Fiesta Bowl on the map.

Dec. 17, 1977 - The Fiesta Bowl Parade

is syndicated for television coverage on a national basis, with an estimated viewing audience of 1.2 million people. Syndicated coverage of the parade grew steadily from that point, with Broadcast Communications Inc., of Indianapolis, signing on for a three-year contract.

Feb. 19, 1978 - A Tucson Fiesta Bowl Committee is established to help promote the Phoenix-based Fiesta Bowl on a statewide basis.

April 24, 1978 - NBC wins the rights to televise the Fiesta Bowl and begins a long relationship that lasts from 1978 through 1995.

Dec. 17, 1978 - The Fiesta Bowl National Pageant of Bands is born, and features 31 bands in the inaugural event - 16 from Arizona and 15 out-of-state hopefuls. All 31 bands marched in the Fiesta Bowl Parade and competed in a field competition at Scottsdale Municipal Stadium.

Dec. 26, 1980 - The Fiesta Bowl celebrates its 10th Anniversary with a then-record crowd of 66,738 on hand to watch Penn State defeat Ohio State, 31-19, in beautiful 80-degree temperatures under a clear blue Arizona sky.

Oct. 21, 1981 - The Tucson Fiesta Bowl Committee presents the inaugural Tucson Fiesta Bowl Golf Invitational with proceeds benefiting the Fiesta Bowl Youth Development Program, a program designed to benefit the Boys and Girls Clubs of Tucson.

Jan. 1, 1982 - Kicking off on New Year's Day for the first time, the Fiesta Bowl is a resounding success with a sellout crowd of 71,053 on hand for a matchup between Penn State and Southern Cal. Penn State slips past USC and Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen, 26-10, in a game that recorded a 19.3 rating, still the second highest in Fiesta Bowl history.

Dec. 31, 1982 - The first annual Fiesta Bowl 10K is held in downtown Phoenix before the Fiesta Bowl Parade. More than 3,500 competitors take part in the first race, which was televised nationally by 100 markets. American record-holder Thom Hunt wins the initial event.

Dec. 31, 1982 — The Fiesta Bowl Parade continues to grow in stature, as more than 10 million viewers from across the nation tune into the syndicated television broadcast.

Jan. 2, 1984 — A crowd of 66,484 watches one of the most exciting finishes in Fiesta Bowl history, as Ohio State scores the game-winning touchdown with just 39 seconds on the clock to defeat Pittsburgh, 28-23.

Dec. 7-16, 1984 — The first Fiesta Bowl Million Dollar Hole-in-One contest is held at the Arizona Biltmore Country Club, and the champion of the finals fails to nail an ace but still drives away in a Ford Mustang.

Dec. 29, 1984 — The Fiesta Bowl 10K features more than 5,000 runners, making it the largest race in Arizona, and is named one of the 20 best in the nation by Runner's World magazine.

Sept. 26, 1985 — Sunkist Growers enters a five-year, multi-million dollar sponsorship agreement with the Fiesta Bowl as title sponsor of what will be called the Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Football Classic and Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Parade. It marks the first-ever title sponsorship of a college football bowl game and increases the Fiesta Bowl's payout to more than $1 million per team.

Dec. 7-15, 1985 — The Fiesta Bowl takes its fans to the ballpark with two new softball events, the Fiesta Bowl Softball Classic and the Fiesta Bowl Homerun Derby, increasing the bowl's calendar to 46 events.

Dec. 27, 1985 — The Tucson Fiesta Bowl Committee hosts the inaugural Fiesta Bowl Basketball Classic, featuring the hometown Arizona Wildcats against Boston College, Princeton and Wisconsin.

Dec. 31, 1985 — Eight of the top world-class milers, including past Olympic medalists and marathon champions, compete in the first Fiesta Bowl Mile. Steve Scott, a NCAA champion and Olympic long-distance runner, wins the inaugural event.

Oct. 19, 1986 — Michael Andretti captures the inaugural Fiesta Bowl 200, a 200-mile Indy car race in October at the world's fastest one-mile oval track at Phoenix International Raceway.

Jan. 2, 1987 — The Fiesta Bowl is in the world's spotlight when it hosts its first national championship game between No. 1 Miami and No. 2 Penn State, the nation's only undefeated and untied teams. "The Battle for Number 1" comes down to the final seconds when Penn State's Pete Goffopoulos intercepts Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde's pass to preserve the victory. More than 52 million people watched the historic game, which is still the most watched college football game of all time with a 25.1 rating.

Sept. 15, 1988 — The Fiesta Bowl moves its kickoff time to mid-afternoon, filling the void created by the Rose Bowl's move to ABC. A new NBC television contract allows the Fiesta Bowl's team payout to approach the $3 million mark per team.

Nov. 3, 1988 — The Fiesta Bowl joins forces with Phoenix International Raceway and Checker Auto to present the Checker 500, the first ever NASCAR Winston Cup Race in Arizona.

Dec. 30, 1988 — The Fiesta Bowl stages a "Takedown One" wrestling competition between the national teams of the United States and Soviet Union at ASU's Activity Center. The Soviet Union wins a convincing decision in front of approximately 8,000 fans.

Jan. 2, 1989 — The Fiesta Bowl hosts its second game in three years that decides college football's national champion. Notre Dame jumps out to a 23-6 halftime lead over West Virginia to cruise to a 34-21 victory and the school's 11th national championship. It marks the fourth consecutive year that the Fiesta Bowl champion finishes first or second in the final polls.

Jan. 1, 1990 — The Fiesta Bowl becomes the first bowl game ever to award money solely to academic departments within universities that participated in its football game. The Fiesta Bowl established $100,000 educational endowment chairs within the University of Nebraska's Department of Agronomy and Florida State University's Department of Meteorology.

Dec. 29, 1990 — The Fiesta Bowl enters a joint partnership with the Scottsdale Prevention Institute to stage the Third Annual Fiesta Bowl Duck Race. Throughout the years, the duck race has become the world's largest of its kind with 75,000 ducks racing down the Salt River Project canal in one of the bowl's top events.

Feb. 5, 1991 — Sunkist Growers consolidates its sponsorship of the Fiesta Bowl Football Classic after a huge citrus freeze in December 1990 hinders its winter citrus crop. Sunkist, however, continues its sponsorship of the nationally televised Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Parade.

July 10, 1991 — The Fiesta Bowl is invited to join college football's Bowl Coalition, which includes the Cotton, Orange and Sugar Bowls. Champions from the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Eight, Southeastern and Southwest conferences, along with Notre Dame and two at-large teams will annually fill the eight slots in the four games.

Dec. 31, 1991 — Writer and humorist Erma Bombeck, a Paradise Valley resident, serves as Grand Marshal of the Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Parade. The Parade attracts more than 300,000 spectators and receives a 5.1 rating/16 share on NBC's national telecast.

Dec. 21, 1992 — IBM signs an agreement with the Fiesta Bowl, making IBM, which is a worldwide leader in the development of sales of business systems, software and services, title sponsor of the IBM OS/2 Fiesta Bowl Football Classic. IBM associates its OS/2 "Operating System/2" line with the football classic.

Dec. 31, 1992 — The first annual Motorola Mile is held on the parade route in front of more than 300,000 spectators. Nearly 1,000 runners compete in a participant mile, which was followed by Arizona's top high school boys and girls milers competing in a one-mile run down Central Avenue.

Jan. 17-24, 1993 — More than 2,000 volunteers, many affiliated with the Fiesta Bowl, work 18 hours a day for eight days to stage and promote the 1993 U.S. Figure Skating Championships at America West Arena in Phoenix.

June 26, 1993 — Approximately 100 Fiesta Bowl volunteers and staff members assist in planning and staging a parade in downtown Phoenix to honor the NBA's Western Conference champion Phoenix Suns. Nearly 300,000 spectators line the parade route on a day when temperatures reach 114 degrees.

Dec. 5, 1993 — The Fiesta Bowl and the Dial Corp stage the inaugural "Dial Invitational - A Fiesta Bowl Event," a collegiate basketball doubleheader at America West Arena.

Dec. 7, 1993 — Tempe-based MicroAge, Inc., becomes the title sponsor of the MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade, marking the first time in the parade's 23-year history that an Arizona company has served as title sponsor of the event. MicroAge, a public company founded in 1976, is among Arizona's top 10 public companies by revenue.

Dec. 31, 1993 — The 23rd Annual MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade is the biggest and most successful in the event's history with nearly 400,000 people lining Central Avenue. George Brett, a 13-time all-star with the Kansas City Royals and future baseball Hall of Famer, is the Grand Marshal. John Teets, chairman, president and CEO of the Dial Corp., is selected as the parade's first ever honorary Grand Marshal.

Jan. 1, 1994 — The Arizona Wildcats record the first shutout in Fiesta Bowl history by blanking the favored Miami Hurricanes, 29-0. Arizona's defense, known as "Desert Swarm," has four sacks, three interceptions, causes two fumbles and forces Miami to punt a Fiesta Bowl record 10 times.

Jan. 18, 1994 — Sherry Henry becomes the first woman president of one of the five major bowl games and the first in the 23-year history of the Fiesta Bowl. Henry, general manager of the Fiesta Inn, was also the first woman to be selected to the Fiesta Bowl board of directors in 1986.

April 17, 1994 — A record 740 teams compete in the annual Fiesta Bowl 3-on-3 State Championship street basketball tournament. The tournament, which attracts more than 3,000 participants, is held at the Arizona Center in downtown Phoenix.

June 21, 1994 — The Fiesta Bowl announces that the telecast of its game will return to CBS, beginning in January 1996. CBS televised the Fiesta Bowl from 1974 through 1977, the first national telecast of the Fiesta Bowl.

Aug. 4, 1994 — The Fiesta Bowl receives official notification that it will be a part of a new College Football Bowl Alliance, consisting of the Fiesta, Orange and Sugar bowls. The Bowl Alliance guarantees the three bowls a national championship game on a rotating basis, unless a team from the Pac-10 or Big Ten is ranked first and/or second in the final regular season polls.

Sept. 8, 1994 — The Fiesta Bowl announces that it will host the first Bowl Alliance national championship game on January 2, 1996, at Sun Devil Stadium. As the highest finisher in the bidding process, the Fiesta Bowl has the option of which year to host the title game.

Sept. 8, 1994 — The Dial Corp. agrees to serve as the Fiesta Bowl's "backup" sponsor for a six-year period, beginning with the 1996 Fiesta Bowl and extending through the Fiesta Bowl in 2001, unless a new title sponsor is found. The agreement between The Dial Corp. and the Fiesta Bowl supplants title sponsorship by IBM OS/2, which continued through the 1995 game.

Oct. 5, 1994 — NBA superstar Charles Barkley is introduced at a press conference at the Fiesta Bowl office as the Grand Marshal for the 24th Annual MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade.

June 28, 1995 — The Phoenix & Valley of the Sun Convention & Visitor's Bureau honors the Fiesta Bowl by awarding it the Silver Phoenix Award, which is given to an individual or organization that has made significant contributions to the community and to Valley tourism.

Aug. 5, 1995 — Frito-Lay, Inc. and the Fiesta Bowl announce at a press conference that Frito-Lay has signed a comprehensive marketing and media agreement with the Fiesta Bowl that includes title sponsor of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. This unprecedented agreement positioned the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl as the highest-paying college bowl game of all time.

HUSKER ATHLETICS

The University of Nebraska continues to improve and upgrade its facilities to keep it among the nation's most successful athletic programs. In recent years, Nebraska has made drastic improvements to many of its facilities in order to keep the Huskers nationally competitive in all 24 varsity sports well into the 21st century.

The 1999 season unveiled NU's biggest project yet, the $36.1 million Memorial Stadium Improvement Project, which includes much more than just 42 skybox suites and a press facility. Most impressive, the project provides a sound financial base for the future. Memorial Stadium improvements began with the addition of two HuskerVision replay boards in 1994, allowing Nebraska to become the first collegiate-owned venue to feature replay boards for its fans. Memorial Stadium was renovated to include an expanded training room, improved locker rooms, a new public address system, expanded restrooms, improved concession areas and improved seating for disabled fans. Complete water-proofing and concrete repair will continue throughout the stadium into the next decade.

Facility updates will not end with the football program. The Bob Devaney Sports Center will receive more than $7.9 million in improvements, including the addition of HuskerVision screens. The project also includes improved fan amenities, the aforementioned better seating for disabled fans, plus a complete upper concourse renovation with a Hall of Honor, Husker timeline and other exhibits commemorating a century of NU athletics. Other improvements to Devaney under Director of Athletics Bill Byrne include a new locker room for the women's staff, a new roof over the pool area, remodeling of the central concessions area, a new weight room, new women's basketball locker room and a passenger elevator.

BILL BYRNE
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Memorial Stadium, the home of the Huskers, was built in 1923 and has been home to 233 consecutive sellouts dating back to 1962.

The track and field program will benefit from a $2.9 million indoor track renovation at the Devaney Center next year, and a $2 million Ed Weir Outdoor Track Project, which was completed in the fall of 1999. In 1998, the Abbott Sports Complex received a new press facility, which helped secure a home game in the NCAA Women's Soccer Championships for the third consecutive season. The women's rifle program also kicked off its first season with a new shooting range. In 1997-98, the NU Softball Complex received a new press box and entrance plaza. The NU Coliseum received a new volleyball ready room, and new baseball and softball stadiums will be unveiled for the 2001 season.

These improvements and the leadership of Byrne have helped Nebraska improve its rank among the nation's elite, especially since the Huskers entered the powerful Big 12 Conference in 1996. During the 1998-99 season, Nebraska recorded its fifth consecutive top 15 finish in the Sears Directors' Cup standings with a 12th-place showing in Division I. The Huskers won four Big 12 championships (volleyball, soccer, women's gymnastics and baseball) and finished in the top 20 nationally in 12 sports.

During Byrne's tenure in Lincoln, Nebraska became only the second school in NCAA history to win three national football titles in a four-year span. He has helped increase Nebraska's conference-leading athletic program to 24 sports with the addition of women's soccer (1994), women's bowling (1997-98) and women's rifle (1998-99).

Improvements and reorganization of the offices within the athletic department have helped make Nebraska more user-friendly and better utilizes Byrne's plan of "one-stop shopping" for fans and student-athletes. He also reorganized Nebraska's fund-raising efforts and started an integrated marketing and licensing program. Byrne orchestrated the improvements while balancing the budget. NU had a $2.5 million deficit when Byrne arrived in 1992. While operating on a $36 million budget, the deficit is gone and the athletic program now provides more than $40 million in economic impact to the Lincoln community each year. ■

HUSKER SPIRIT

The Nebraska Yell Squad functions as public relations personnel for the University of Nebraska, promoting spirit and support for athletic events. During an academic year, yell squad members make more than 200 appearances at athletic, philanthropic, community and state events.

In 1993, the 15-member Scarlets Dance team began performing on the sideline at home football games and at halftime of men's and women's basketball games. The yell and dance squads both earned top 10 honors at the National Cheerleaders Association championships last year. In addition, Nebraska's mascot "Lil' Red" was named the mascot of the year by the NCA.

The University of Nebraska Cornhusker Marching Band is one of the nation's oldest marching bands. It was founded in 1879 as an R.O.T.C. unit and began playing at football games during the team's first season. The Marching Red is the only collegiate ensemble that has performed in all the major postseason bowls—Rose, Orange, Fiesta, Cotton and Sugar—as well as the Holiday, Citrus, Sun, Astro-Bluebonnet and Liberty.

The Cornhusker Band was named the 1996 recipient of the John Philip Sousa Foundation's Sudler Trophy, awarded each year to a marching band that has demonstrated the highest of music standards and innovative marching routines. Other honors bestowed on the Marching Red include the representation of the United States at the St. Patrick's Day Celebrations in Dublin, Ireland, in 1996, a featured performance at the Emmy Award-winning Kennedy Center Honors Ceremony for Johnny Carson in 1993, and the "Best Dressed Band Award" presented to the band by the National Association of Uniform Manufacturers and Designers in 1983.

The Marching Red is directed by Professor Craig S. Cornish, who is in his second year as associate director of bands. In addition to directing the marching band, Professor Cornish's responsibilities include serving as conductor of the University Symphonic Band, coordinator of the athletic bands, and teaching undergraduate courses in music

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA HEAD COACH

FRANK SOLICH

Few college football coaches have faced a more daunting challenge than the one that greeted Frank Solich when he took over the Nebraska football program in 1998. After all, the Husker program had won three national titles in the past four seasons and posted an unprecedented 29 straight nine-win seasons.

But while his challenge was great, there was no other coach as prepared for the challenge as Solich, a veteran assistant in the Nebraska program. Solich is a product of the Nebraska football program, which has been the model of stability, consistency and excellence in collegiate athletics for more than 35 years. Those qualities were established by Coach Bob Devaney, then carried on for a quarter-century by his successor, Tom Osborne.

That stability was the primary reason that on Dec. 10, 1997, just moments after Osborne announced his retirement, Solich was named the 26th head coach in Nebraska's 109 years of football tradition. Solich fits the Nebraska model for success. Just as Osborne was groomed by Devaney to be the head coach, Solich was Osborne's heir-apparent for several seasons. He served on Osborne's staff for 19 seasons, first for four seasons as the head freshman coach and then for 15 years as running backs coach. His last seven years as an assistant, Solich had the additional duties of assistant head coach.

In Solich's first season as head coach he proved to be a good choice to meet the challenge of leading one of the nation's elite football programs. The Huskers posted a 9-4 record, the 30th straight season Nebraska had won nine or more games. In addition, Nebraska's appearance in the Culligan Holiday Bowl marked the 30th straight year the Huskers played in a postseason contest. Solich's nine victories last season equaled the totals of his two Hall-of-Fame predecessors, Devaney and Osborne, who each won nine games in their first season as Nebraska's head coach.

Nebraska's success in 1998 came in the face of a great deal of adversity that could have made a lesser program shake. The Huskers opened the season with one of their least experienced squads in many seasons. Throughout the season, Solich's leadership was tested by a rash of injuries that hit the 1998 team. In all, nine projected starters missed a total of 46 games, forcing Solich to put a different starting lineup on the field nearly every Saturday.

Nebraska's transition from Osborne to Solich as head coach was very smooth. Like Osborne, Solich served as his own offensive coordinator and like all of Osborne's teams, the 1998 Huskers were among the nation's top rushing teams. The Huskers averaged a Big 12-best 253.8 yards per game on the ground and ranked sixth

Nebraska's defense was again among the nation's best in 1998, ranking 22nd in total defense, 16th in rush defense and 11th in scoring defense. And like Osborne's teams, the Huskers boasted a strong special teams unit, ranking seventh in the nation in net punting.

The most important aspect of Solich's promotion to head coach may be that it kept the veteran Husker coaching staff intact. The eight assistants from Osborne's staff who remained with Solich have a combined 122 years of coaching service at Nebraska. That experience allowed Solich to begin his first season as a head coach surrounded by familiar faces and ideas.

While some remember Solich for his playing days, most Husker followers are more familiar with his work on Osborne's staff. Noted as one of the nation's top assistant coaches, Solich was tabbed Athlon Magazine's Assistant Coach of the Year before the start of the 1993 season.

In Solich's 19 years as an assistant on the NU staff, the Huskers captured three national championships, all while Solich was assistant head coach. In the same period, Solich was on the staff of 11 conference championship teams, 19 postseason bowl squads and 15 teams who finished the season ranked in the nation's top 10.

Nebraska running backs have succeeded by developing the same work ethic that made Solich a standout fullback. Despite weighing less than 160 pounds, Solich was an All-Big Eight fullback and co-captain of the Huskers' 1965 team. He held the NU single-game rushing record (204 yards against Air Force in 1965) for 10 years and ranks 45th on NU's career rushing chart with 1,010 yards. He rushed for 444 yards as a junior in 1964 and was second on the team in 1965 with 580 yards. Solich still holds the Orange Bowl record for return yards with 166 in 1966.

Solich made the professional move to Nebraska before the 1979 season.

In his 21 years on the Husker staff, Solich has been one of the nation's top recruiters. As an assistant, Solich primarily recruited the eastern part of the United States, but also has recruiting experience in the Midwest. He has routinely brought prep All-America players to the Heartland. Several players Solich recruited to Nebraska have gone on to professional careers, including Irving Fryar, Brian Washington, Mike Croel, Tyrone Legette, Donta Jones and Doug Colman.

His ability to bring top talent to Lincoln has been evident in his first two recruiting classes as head coach. Solich's first two classes have included a combined 18 prep All-Americans and players from 16 different states, in addition to Canada. Both classes have been ranked in the nation's top 20.

Solich is married to the former Pamela Wieck, of Beatrice, Neb., and they have two children, Cindy and Jeff (wife, Chara). Cindy and her husband, Jon Dalton, have a 4-year-old daughter, Catherine, and a 2-year-old son, Aaron.

SEASON IN REVIEW

GAME 1

NEBRASKA 42, IOWA 7

September 4, Iowa City, Iowa

The Huskers held Iowa scoreless for three quarters, as Nebraska opened a season with a 42-7 win over the Hawkeyes. NU racked up 162 rushing yards and 206 total yards in the first half, but with two turnovers, was only able to score one TD. After taking a 7-0 lead at intermission, Nebraska scored on its first three second-half possessions to take a 28-0 lead at the start of the fourth quarter. Iowa scored on a blocked punt in the last three minutes for a final 42-7 Nebraska victory. The "D" shut down Iowa's offense, allowing just 83 yards rushing, 169 total offense yards and eight first downs.

NEBRASKA 45, CALIFORNIA 0

September 11, Lincoln, Neb.

The Huskers shut out California in Nebraska's home opener, 45-0. In the second quarter, QB Eric Crouch led NU on three of four possessions to give Nebraska a 28-0 halftime edge. The Huskers added a field goal and two more touchdowns in the second half for the final 45-0 margin. Crouch rushed nine times for 21 yards and two scores and completed two of two passes for 102 yards and one TD (70 yards to Tracey Wistrom) and caught one pass for a 60-yard TD from starting QB Bobby Newcombe. In the process, he became the first Husker in 26 years to score three ways on offense. The defense held Cal to just 145 yards of total offense and nine first downs, while causing three turnovers.

NEBRASKA 20, SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI 13

September 18, Lincoln, Neb.

In a nail-biter, the Huskers relied on a big defensive effort to secure a 20-13 win over Southern Miss. NU led 12-7 at halftime, but the lead changed five times and Southern Miss had one last chance to win the game with 2:38 remaining in the game with the ball on their own 41. Southern Miss drove inside the red zone, to the NU 14-yard line, but sophomore Keyuo Craver recorded his second interception of the fourth quarter, ending the Golden Eagle threat. Senior linebacker Julius Jackson scored NU's first and last touchdown of the game to lead a Husker defense that forced six turnovers and recorded five sacks as Nebraska improved to 3-0 despite gaining less than 200 yards in total offense.

GAME 4

NEBRASKA 40, MISSOURI 10

September 25, Columbia, Mo.

Nebraska recorded its 100th win of the '90s over Missouri, becoming just the first Division I program to win 100-plus games in consecutive decades (NU was 10320-0 in the '80s). The Husker defense scored first on a safety, and NU went up 16-0 in the first quarter after Matt Davison caught a 7-yard pass from Eric Crouch and Crouch scored on a 31-yard run. Correll Buckhalter led all rushers with a season-best 132 yards on 14 carries with one score, while Crouch rushed for 92 yards and passed for 143 and two TDs.

GAME 5

NEBRASKA 38, OKLAHOMA STATE 14

October 2, Lincoln, Neb.

Nebraska jumped out to a 21-0 first-quarter lead, scoring three rushing TDs in 13 plays, and led 31-0 at halftime. QB Eric Crouch was Nebraska's leading rusher in the game with 61 yards on 11 carries with one TD. Crouch completed 7-13 passes for 145 yards and a score, a 16-yarder to TE Tracey Wistrom. Wistrom recorded his second 100-yard receiving game with four catches for 116 yards.

GAME 6

NEBRASKA 49, IOWA STATE 14

October 9, Lincoln, Neb.

The Cornhuskers posted a win over Iowa State on Homecoming, after jumping out to a 21-0 first-quarter lead. NU increased its lead to 28-0 before halftime after Correll Buckhalter scored on a 7-yard run. The lead rose to 49-0 on a second defensive touchdown, this time by redshirt freshman rush end Demoiné Adams. ISU scored two fourth-quarter TDs against Husker reserves for the final 49-14 margin. NU totaled a season-best 439 yards rushing, led by Alexander's 135 and Buckhalter's 127 and nearly had a third I-back rush for 100 yards in the game as Dahman Diedrick had 99. NU recorded 524 total yards against a team that entered the game ranked fifth nationally in total defense.

TEXAS 24, NEBRASKA 20

October 23, Austin, Texas

Texas scored first on a field goal after NU's first fumble, and Nebraska answered with two FGs of its own plus the game's first TD to take a 13-3 halftime lead. The lead would change three more times in the second half, with Texas scoring the game-

Senior linebacker Julius Jackson became the first NU player in over 35 years to score two defensive touchdowns in the same game, lifting the Huskers to a 20-13 win over Southern Miss.

winning touchdown with 5:51 remaining in the game. Nebraska had three turnovers and, although the Longhorns only converted one to a field goal, NU twice lost fumbles inside the UT red zone. With the exception of a 33-yard run by Hodges Mitchell on UT's first drive, the Blackshirts did an excellent job of shutting down the Longhorns' rushing game. UT had 45 yards rushing in the first quarter, totaled 45 yards at halftime and 62 in the game.

GAME 8

NEBRASKA 24, KANSAS 17

October 30, Lawrence, Kan.

The Jayhawks scored first when Nebraska backed itself into a corner at the 1-yard line and KU blocked a punt to take a 2-0 lead. Kansas expanded its lead to 9-0 after a 22-yard pass and subsequent Joe Garcia kick at the 9:12 mark in the second quarter. NU's Josh Brown hit on a 31-yard field goal with 10:23 remaining in the third quarter and Bobby Newcombe had an 86-yard punt return to give the Huskers a 10-9 lead with 2:14 remaining in the third quarter. Husker QB Eric Crouch scored on an eight-yard run with 12:09 in the fourth to give the Huskers a 17-9 cushion, but KU's Smith hit Mike Chandler on a 77-yard pass with 11:44 remaining. A Smith to Chandler two-point conversion tied the game at 17. Newcombe raced to the end zone on a 49-yard pass from Crouch with 3:24 remaining for the final 24-17 Husker margin.

GAME 9

NEBRASKA 37, TEXAS A&M 0

November 6, Lincoln, Neb.

The Blackshirts dominated No. 18 Texas A&M for four quarters, holding the Aggies to just two yards rushing and 118 yards total offense. Senior rover Mike Brown led the Huskers' defensive efforts with nine tackles, including one sack for a 10-yard loss and one tackle for a three-yard loss. NU quarterback Eric Crouch completed nine of 20 passing attempts for 95 yards and a career-best 137 rushing yards on 15 attempts and one touchdown. On the first play of Nebraska's opening offensive series, Bobby Newcombe fumbled, but the Aggies failed to take advantage of the turnover, as Kyle Vanden Bosch blocked the A&M field goal attempt. Nebraska took a 3-0 lead when Josh Brown connected on a 20-yard FG set up by Vanden Bosch's second blocked field goal of the game.

Dan Alexander scored Nebraska's first touchdown to give NU a 16-0 lead. The Huskers took a 23-0 lead, as Crouch scored from two yards out after a Mike Brown interception and 3-yard return. I-backs Correll Buckhalter and Dahrran Diedrick gave NU its final two scores.

GAME 10

NEBRASKA 41, KANSAS STATE 15

November 13, Lincoln, Neb.

Eric Crouch ran for a career-high 158 yards and two touchdowns, while the Husker defense held Kansas State quarterbacks to just 7 of 31 passing in the Husker win. Not even a school-record 10 fumbles by the Huskers could help the Wildcats, who have not won in Lincoln since 1968. Crouch put the Huskers on the scoreboard four plays later, to give NU a 7-0 lead. The Husker defense forced a punt, which was blocked by linebacker Randy Stella and sent out of the end zone for a safety, giving NU a 9-0 advantage. The Huskers would extend the lead to 16-0, as Crouch scored on an 18-yard TD run.

Nebraska took advantage of K-State's second fumble (Adam Helm at the KSU 44) and drove 31 yards on seven plays to push the margin to 27-9. On KSU's next possession, Mike Brown forced his second turnover of the day, intercepting a Helm pass at the KU 46. NU took advantage quickly as I-back Dahrran Diedrick went 46-yards for the TD. Helm scored on a one-yard run in the fourth quarter before Eric Johnson's 15-yard fumble return with 3:10 remaining provided the final margin.

GAME 11

NEBRASKA 33, COLORADO 30 (OT)

November 26, Boulder, Colo.

I-back Dan Alexander rushed for a career-high 180 yards and three TDs as the Huskers survived a ferocious Colorado comeback to win 33-30 in overtime. Alexander gave the Huskers a quick 7-0 lead, as he raced 50 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. The Huskers increased the lead to 14-0 when Alexander scored from one yard on NU's next possession. NU would increase the first quarter lead to 17-0 after Josh Brown's 34-yard field goal. After CU cut the lead to 17-3 on a Jeremy Aldrich 33-yard field goal, Alexander scored his third TD of the half, a career-best 80 yarder, to give Nebraska a 24-3 halftime lead. A second Brown field goal, this time from 37 yards, gave Nebraska a 27-3 lead entering the fourth quarter. After an Aldrich field goal made the score 27-6, Buffalo quarterback Mike Moschetti followed with three scoring passes in less than six minutes to tie the score at 27. The last TD strike came after Colorado recovered a successful onside kick. Nebraska had a final chance to win in regulation after Keyuo Craver recovered a Buffalo fumble at the CU 16-yard line, but the Huskers fumbled the ball back on the next play. CU drove to the Husker 16, setting up an Aldrich 34-yard field goal attempt, which he missed, sending the game into overtime. In OT, Aldrich converted his third field goal of the game to give CU a 30-27 lead, but NU quarterback Eric Crouch, who finished with 123 yards rushing and 44 yards passing, drove the Huskers into the end zone, scoring from one yard, to give the Huskers the win.

GAME 12

NEBRASKA 22, TEXAS 6

December 4, San Antonio, Texas

Nebraska relied on a solid running game and one its best defensive efforts of the season, as the Huskers defeated Texas, 22-6, in the Big 12 Championship in San Antonio.

Nebraska got on the scoreboard first as sophomore place-kicker Josh Brown's career-long 42-yard field goal gave the Huskers a 3-0 lead just seven minutes into the contest. Nebraska took a 10-0 on its next possession as Crouch scored on a fourth down.

Brown's second field goal upped the lead to 13-0 midway through the second quarter before the Huskers defense forced a safety, giving Nebraska a 15-0 lead.

Applewhite completed just 15-of-42 passes for 172 yards, while throwing three interceptions. He was also sacked seven times, as the Longhorns set a school record for fewest yards in a game, finishing with six yards on 30 carries.

Crouch's second touchdown of the game gave the Huskers a 22-0 lead in the second half. Crouch rushed for 72 yards and passed for 55 more. Nebraska also received a big boost from reserve I-back Correll Buckhalter, who finished with 136 yards on 20 carries.

Nebraska finished with 234 yards rushing while holding UT to just 178 yards of total offense. ■

Together, We Have the Power to Make it Happen

At the kick-off of the coming century, APS is poised to deliver new energy to meet new challenges. For over 100 years, our goal has been to serve the people of Arizona. From the wooded hills of Flagstaff to the desert grandeur of the Phoenix Valley, we've proven the value of teamwork. Now APS stands ready to play its part in shaping Arizona's future. Because together, we'll find the power to make things happen—beyond even our children's brightest dreams.

THE POWER TO MAKE IT HAPPEN™

Generation Price/Contract Terms: per your selected rate schedule, available upon your request. Power Sources: Nuclear: 27.49%, Coal: 35.49%, Gas: 4.11%, Oil: .05%, Hydro: .10%, Purchase Power & Interchange Net: 32.46%. Air Emissions: Carbon Dioxide: 2,953 lbs./MWh, Nitrogen Dioxide: 3,300 lbs./MWh, Sulfur Dioxide: 12,610 in 100 lbs./MWh.

1. See your contract terms and conditions for further information. You may also call APS at (602) 371-7171 (metro Phoenix), 1-800-253-9405 (other areas). 2. Electricity customers in Arizona are served by an integrated power grid, not particular generating units. The above information on power sources and air emissions is about generation acquired by APS in the period 1/1/98-12/31/98.

It takes more than wood and strings to build a guitar.
And more than low prices to build a relationship.

William Eaton
Roberto Venn School of Luthiery
SRP business customer since 1975

It takes a complete package. That's why William's students travel from across the globe to learn his art of guitar building. And why William prefers to go no further than SRP for all his energy needs. At SRP, we have programs designed to save him time and money. Service that will always be there for him. And prices among the lowest in the Southwest. All for one good reason - to bolster his bottom line. For more information on how your company can benefit from SRP's complete package of energy services, low prices and convenient business programs, call (602) 236-8833.

The National Guard. Diversity is our strength.

We, the National Guard, are an organization of men and women of many races, cultures and creeds. A diversity that truly reflects America's best and most powerful resource, its people. We look to the future and understand that our diversity, is in fact, our greatest strength.

Our nation was founded on the principle of individual dignity. The National Guard, with both a state and federal mission, remains true to that fundamental principle by strongly supporting the needs, aspirations and capabilities of all.

We draw our strength from America's diversity...
it's our commitment...it's our future.

GAME 1

TENNESSEE 42, WYOMING 17

September 4, Knoxville, Tenn.

The No. 3-ranked Tennessee Volunteers scored 28 unanswered points in the second quarter to overcome a 10-7 deficit at the end of the first period. The Vols finished the day with a 42-17 win in the first-ever meeting with Wyoming in front of a crowd of 107,597.

The Vols relied on the running of Jamal Lewis (25 carries for 159 yards and three TDs), the receiving of Cedrick Wilson (seven catches for 183 yards and two scores), the passing accuracy of Tee Martin, and a defensive effort which recorded 25 tackles behind the line and a school-record 13 sacks.

Lewis scored on runs of 1, 25 and 32 yards, while Wilson caught TD passes covering 16 and 55 yards. Eric Westmoreland was on the spot returning a fumble 18 yards for a score just before halftime. Robert Loudermilk, making his Vol debut, knocked home six extra points in as many tries. Lewis became the eighth back in UT history to crack the 2,000 yard mark.

GAME 2

FLORIDA 23, TENNESSEE 21

September 18, Gainesville, Fla.

Trailing 23-7 early in the third quarter, the Vols closed the margin to two points at 23-21 with 5:10 left in the game. A Deon Grant interception that put the Vols in position for one Jamal Lewis score and a 98-yard drive that was followed by another Lewis touchdown run, keyed UT's late rally. Grant's second interception put the Vols in position in the waning moments, but the Gators made the plays and took the narrow victory. Doug Johnson completed 21 of 44 passes for 343 yards and always seemed to have the right play called at the right time. Tee Martin had a long night passing, but did score on a seven-yard run that gave the Vols a 7-3 lead in the first quarter. The Gators followed with a 13-0 run over the last 9:17 of the half that included a long Gator kickoff return, two field goals, a kickoff fumbled out of bounds, and a TD pass from Johnson to Jackson.

GAME 3

TENNESSEE 17, MEMPHIS 16

September 25, Knoxville, Tenn.

Tennessee came off the mat to march 78 yards for a score and take a 17-16 win over Memphis on Homecoming Day 1999. The Volunteers began their final drive with 3:20 to go in the fourth quarter and the Tigers leading 16-10. A few plays later, Tee Martin avoided a sack and connected with Bobby Graham, who fell out of bounds at the Memphis 6. Two plays later, Tee found Cedrick Wilson for the game-tying score with a minute to go and Alex Walls knocked home the game-winning PAT.

The Vols scored early on a 69-yard punt return by Eric Parker in the first quarter and Walls added a third quarter field goal before Wilson's game-winning catch.

Memphis chipped in a field goal before the half and scored on an 82-yard pass play, before adding two fourth quarter field goals in building a six-point lead.

GAME 4

TENNESSEE 24, AUBURN 0

October 2, Knoxville, Tenn.

Vol defensive back Deon Grant, who had three interceptions, eight tackles, and a broken-up pass, returned one of his interceptions for a score on the game's first play. With that momentum, the Vols never looked back en route to a 24-0 victory over Auburn.

Travis Henry scored twice in the second half on runs of 1 and 34 yards and Alex Walls added a 22-yard field goal before halftime. Tennessee defenders squeezed the Tiger offensive attack to 75 yards rushing and 147 yards passing.

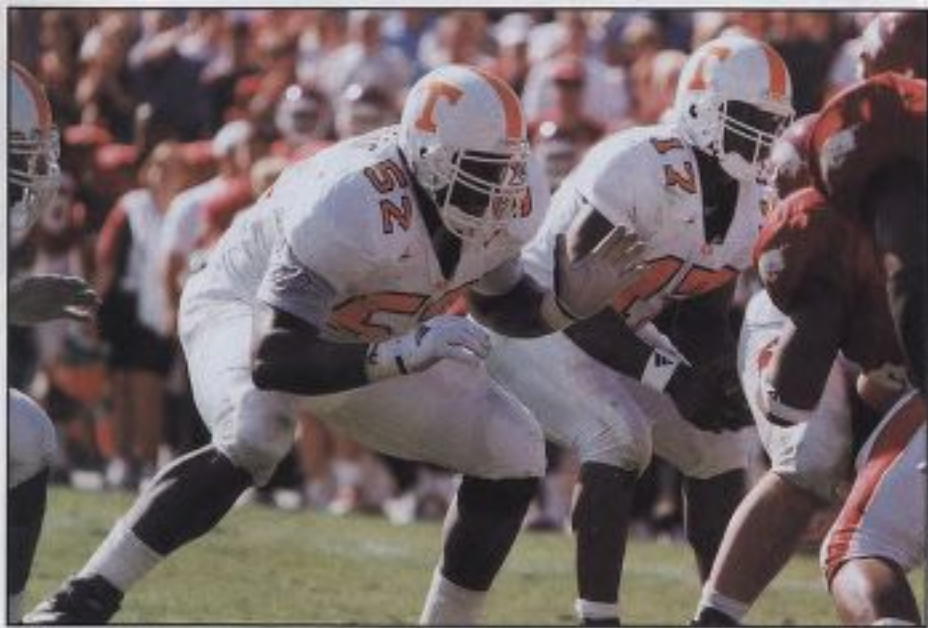

Cedrick Wilson caught six passes for 112 yards and Henry carried 13 times for 84 yards to pace the Vols offensively. Grant, the Southeastern Conference Defensive Player of the Week, wowed the crowd with his three picks in the first half and a pass break-up from a fake punt.

GAME 5

TENNESSEE 37, GEORGIA 20

October 9, Knoxville, Tenn.

Tee Martin ran for three scores and threw to Jamal Lewis on a screen pass for another as the Vols held off Georgia for a 37-20 victory. The Vol punt return team racked up a safety and Leonard Scott ran away from everybody on a kickoff return for 100 yards after Georgia closed the margin to 30-20 10 seconds earlier. Tee, who was named the SEC Offensive Player of the Week, scored the first of his three touchdowns on a quarterback draw in the first period. Georgia rallied to square the count one series later with a 91-yard drive. The Vols found the trigger for a 21-point second quarter and took a 30-7 advantage into the fourth stanza when Georgia made a move to cut into the Vols' lead on a TD pass and an interception return.

GAME 6

TENNESSEE 21, ALABAMA 7

October 23, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

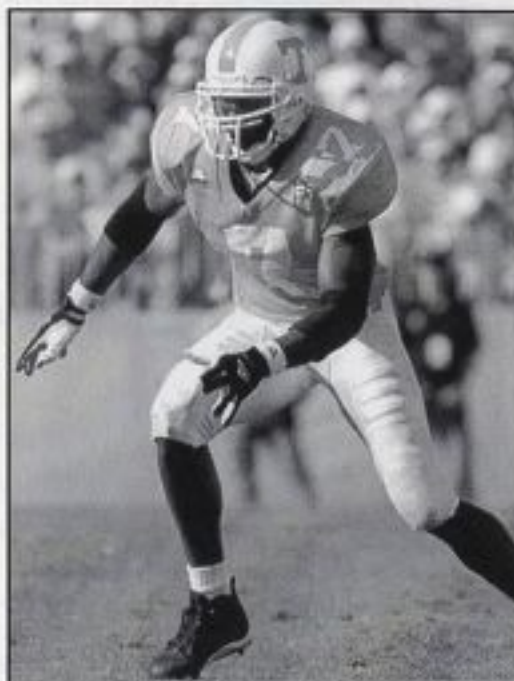

The Vols parlayed 117 yards rushing by Jamal Lewis, two TD runs by Tee Martin, and a 43-yard TD pass from Tee to David Martin into a winning 21-7 effort that extended the Vols' streak over the Crimson Tide to five games. The defense, after yielding a 99-yard TD-drive early in the second quarter, simply would not let the Tide get anything going offensively. The Vols trailed 7-0 with 10:38 left in the half when Tee got things going. At the Tide 7, he rolled left and cruised in for the score to tie the game 7-7 at the half. Tee's third quarter pass to David, followed by his 21-yard scamper in the fourth stanza, provided the final margin.

GAME 7

TENNESSEE 30, S. CAROLINA 7

October 30, Knoxville, Tenn.

Tennessee used 146 yards rushing, including a lightning-like 70-yard run, from Jamal Lewis, 213 yards passing from Tee Martin, 130 yards receiving from Donté Stallworth, and a defensive unit that simply would not let South Carolina into the end zone until only 26 seconds remained for a 30-7 victory. The Vols took the game's opening drive in for a score when Tee found freshman Onterio Smith for a 24-yard score. On the Vols' first possession of the second quarter, Lewis broke the line and outlegged everybody for a 14-0 Vol lead. Alex Walls converted a pair of first-half field goals, which gave UT a 20-0 halftime lead, and also hit a 51-yarder on Tennessee's second possession of the third quarter. Phillip Crosby scored in the fourth as the Vols were through for the day with 30 points.

second play from scrimmage and David Barrett returned it 43 yards for a score. The Vols survived well enough to take a 10-7 lead early in the second quarter and the halftime lead.

Following Travis Henry's 28-yard score in the third quarter, Arkansas responded immediately with a touchdown drive that cut the margin to 24-21. On the Hogs' next possession—eight plays, 80 yards in 3:24—they effectively mixed the run and pass, en route to the game-winning score.

GAME 10

TENNESSEE 56, KENTUCKY 21

November 20, Lexington, Ky.

Tennessee raced to a 27-0 lead early in the second quarter and scored more than 50 points against the Wildcats for the fourth time in as many seasons, and fifth time in the 1990s, with a 56-21 victory at Commonwealth Stadium.

Travis Henry rushed 23 times for 179 yards and three scores and staked the Vols to a decisive first-half lead from which Kentucky could not rally. Tee Martin added a one-yard run for a score, threw TD passes to Cedrick Wilson and David Martin, and added an extra two-point conversion run that helped restore order at 35-14 in the third stanza.

Freshman Onterio Smith had 10 carries for 82 yards including a 61-yarder in the fourth period. He added another TD on a one-yard run later in the period. Vol defenders intercepted five passes led by Deon Grant's two picks.

GAME 11

TENNESSEE 38, VANDERBILT 10

November 27, Knoxville, Tenn.

The Vols rolled up 315 yards rushing en route to a 38-10 victory over cross-state rival Vanderbilt.

Tee Martin, who went undefeated at home in his Vol career, engineered the triumph by tossing a 33-yard pass to Leonard Scott and handing the ball to Travis Henry, who gained 153 yards on 19 carries.

Onterio Smith scored from 7 and 51 yards out en route to 82 yards on the day, and Phillip Crosby scored on a 1-yard run. Alex Walls added a field goal on the second drive of the day and booted five extra points.

GAME 8

TENNESSEE 38, NOTRE DAME 14

November 6, Knoxville, Tenn.

Tennessee, leading 10-7 with 8:26 left in the second quarter, scored the game's next 21 points in the latter stages of the second quarter and the early stages of the third, to build a 31-7 lead en route to a 38-14 victory over Notre Dame. The Vols got a vintage performance from quarterback Tee Martin, who threw TD passes of 21 yards to Donté Stallworth, two yards to Eric Parker and 43 yards to Leonard Scott. Tee added a TD of his own in the fourth quarter that culminated a 91-yard drive. Notre Dame narrowed the margin to 10-7 in the second quarter and closed to 31-14 late in the third before the Vol defenders made several big plays to stem the flow.

GAME 9

ARKANSAS 28, TENNESSEE 24

November 13, Fayetteville, Ark.

For the second straight year, the final score between Tennessee and Arkansas was 28-24. For the second straight year, the home team celebrated and the visiting team left town thinking about what might have been.

Tennessee, which led at halftime 17-14 and took a 24-14 lead into the third quarter, had one last do-or-die drive to grab the brass ring. The Vols got it as close as the Arkansas 17, but couldn't pull the trigger on a game-winning play.

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE HEAD COACH

PHILLIP FULMER

Phillip Fulmer in his eighth season as head coach of the Tennessee Vols continued to add to the list of accomplishments that have placed him in the top ranks of his profession.

First and most important to fans of the Vols has been his status as the nation's No. 1 coach in terms of victories. Tennessee's 9-2 record in 1999, against a schedule rated among the toughest in major college football, widened Fulmer's won-lost ratio margin as compared with his peers.

Last November, Fulmer received one of the most prestigious and personally-satisfying honors that can come to a man in the field of athletics. A blue-ribbon panel of judges named Fulmer the second annual winner of the State Farm Eddie Robinson Coach of Distinction Award. Penn State's venerable Joe Paterno was the previous recipient.

Named after famed Grambling coach Eddie Robinson, the award honors an active college football coach who demonstrates the qualities that exemplify Coach Robinson's legacy—a role model and mentor to students and players, an active member of the community and an accomplished football coach.

Beginning with the 1992 season, Tennessee teams under Fulmer have compiled a record of 76 wins against 13 losses for a percentage of .854. When the Vols defeated Vanderbilt Nov. 27, they became the fifth straight Tennessee team to win at least nine games in a season.

Heading into the 1999 bowl season, the Tennessee Vols, under the direction of head coach Phillip Fulmer, have been ranked continuously in the top 10 for the last 54 weeks.

An accepted measure of a program's success, its position in national polls, also has been a testimonial to Fulmer's sure hand at the helm. Heading into the 1999 bowl season, the Vols have been ranked continuously in the top 10 for their last 54 weeks.

Fulmer's brilliant coaching record includes these other accomplishments:

- A total of 79 academic All-SEC honorees the past five years, including 15 in 1999.
- Unanimous selection as national and SEC coach-of-the-year in 1998.
- A record of 53-7 from 1995 through 1999.

The Vol coach deflects credit for his achievements by pointing to others who have been by his side during the golden years of Tennessee football. "None of these things would have happened without the dedicated players who love this university the same way I do," Fulmer said. "And certainly much of the credit belongs to our hard-working assistant coaches and to the fans who loyally support us."

Notching two straight SEC title's in 1997 and 1998 carried special meaning for Fulmer, the 49-year old native of Winchester, Tenn., who played in the offensive line for the Vols and then came back as an assistant coach before being promoted to head coach in 1992. "Winning championships is always a goal when you're coaching football," Fulmer said.

Fulmer, who served 13 years as a Vol assistant beginning in 1980, is number 20 in a line of Tennessee head coaches that began with the incumbency of J.A. Pierce at the turn of the century. The decision to elevate Fulmer came five seasons after he was appointed assistant head coach and three seasons after he became offensive coordinator.

During Fulmer's years as offensive coordinator, the Vols consistently broke team total offense records and were ranked one or two in the SEC. Records have fallen with even greater frequency since he became head coach. While serving as offensive line coach, he saw 17 of his charges join the ranks of the NFL, including two first round picks, Antone Davis and Charles McRae.

As an offensive guard, Fulmer helped

Tennessee to a 30-5 record from 1969-71. The Vols captured the SEC championship with a 9-2 record in 1969, went 11-1 and won the Sugar Bowl in 1970, and finished as the Liberty Bowl champions with a 10-2 record in 1971, a season which ended Fulmer's playing career. Fulmer began coaching as a graduate assistant in 1972. He served as linebacker coach and defensive coordinator for the Tennessee freshman team in 1973 and moved on to Wichita State the following season.

Fulmer is married to the former Vicky Morey and has four children: Phillip, Jr., Courtney, Brittany and Allison. ■

VOLUNTEER ATHLETICS

Over 100,000 fans pack Neyland Stadium when the Vols take the field.

Tennesseans beam with pride concerning the nationally famous sports program at their state university in Knoxville. This is especially true when considering the score of achievements that have distinguished the University's athletic history.

But a stroke of good luck that befell the University more than 70 years ago—a quirk of fate, if you will—provided the foundation that allowed Tennessee to take its place in the national spotlight.

By pure happenstance, the United States Army assigned a young West Point graduate to the ROTC program at the University. That young officer would shape the face of college athletics down South for generations to come.

Square-shouldered and purposeful, befitting a product of the U.S. Military Academy, Robert R. Neyland was a dynamic individual who blended intellect, character and ambition. It was the University of Tennessee's great fortune that the decision was made to dispatch him to Knoxville. Neyland, an outstanding multiple-sports star at West Point, was as much at home in the boxing ring or on the baseball diamond as he was on the football field. The University needed some coaching assistance with its football squad, and Neyland offered to lend a hand as his ROTC schedule permitted.

University officials were so impressed by the young lieutenant's obvious leadership qualities that a year later, in 1926, Neyland was named head coach of the Volunteers. The man most responsible for his appointment was Dean N.W. Dougherty, then chairman of the school's athletic board and himself a legendary football player who would later be voted into the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame.

Tennessee won national championships in 1939 and 1951, made holiday bowl visits a routine part of its December itinerary, and attracted a following that is as avid and loyal as any in the nation. Every time the gates swing open at Neyland Stadium, some 102,000 patrons walk in.

During the last 30-plus years in particular, first under the direction of Bob Woodruff and now with Doug Dickey as athletic director, Tennessee has produced an assortment of championships. The 1967, '69, '85, '89, '90, '97 and '98 SEC Championships, and 26 bowl appearances, reflect the solid status of the football program, which provides the funding for the entire athletic program, directly and indirectly. Other Vol teams that have won SEC titles and earned national rankings include basketball, tennis, swimming, track, cross country, baseball and golf.

An ambitious building program instituted largely under Dickey's stewardship of the program has brought UT facilities to a level that could be described as the highest in the nation. ■

FIESTA BOWL VOLUNTEERS

DAVE TILSON

The Fiesta Bowl has progressed thanks to the support and hard work of thousands of volunteers. Approximately 2,500 volunteers assist in organizing, marketing, promoting and operating the 60 year-round Fiesta Bowl events. The Fiesta's unique structure allows the volunteer-driven organization to utilize the talents of many of Arizona's best and brightest citizens from all walks of life.

Volunteers assist in several ways, whether it's spending countless hours at events, overseeing a committee or involving their businesses as title or associate sponsors. Through Fiesta Bowl event and product sponsorships, companies contribute to activities that enhance the quality of life in Arizona and raise valuable dollars for higher education nationally.

A volunteer board of directors leads the Fiesta Bowl. This 26-member board is responsible for setting policy, overseeing finances, evaluating events and determining the course of action to be taken by the Fiesta Bowl staff and volunteers. Current board leaders include: President Win Holden; Vice President Soeve Wheeler; Treasurer Kevin Hickey and Secretary Ann Barker.

Another essential part of the team is the 171-member Fiesta Bowl Committee. This committee is largely responsible for meeting the Fiesta Bowl's annual fund raising goals. Members of this committee also serve as chairs and assistant chairs of the Fiesta Bowl's 60 annual events.

The Fiesta Bowl also enjoys the support of the 40-member Fiesta Futures Committee. Comprised of Arizona's youthful leaders, this group assists in fund raising and participates in multiple Fiesta Bowl events.

Other key volunteers are the Fiesta Bowl's "Life" directors and committee members. Many of these volunteers have been associated with the Fiesta Bowl since the beginning in 1971. With 41 life directors, a 34-member Women's Committee and approximately 130 life committee members, the Fiesta Bowl is well armed with experienced Arizona volunteers.

attend the first-ever Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Tailgate Party, an event held just north of Sun Devil Stadium during the hours leading up to the game.

Jan. 2, 1996 — The highly-anticipated national title clash between No. 1 Nebraska and No. 2 Florida surprisingly turns into a blowout, as the Cornhuskers rush for a Tostitos Fiesta Bowl record 524 yards and use a smothering defense to post a 62-24 victory and claim its second consecutive national championship. Nebraska's Tommie Frazier rushes for 199 yards, an NCAA bowl game record for a quarterback, which includes a dazzling 75-yard touchdown run that is named college football's play of the year.

April 2, 1996 — The Tostitos Fiesta Bowl announces that it has paid a college football bowl record $27.2 million to Nebraska and Florida for the national championship game. It is also announced that the national title game and surrounding events generated an economic impact of $96.8 million of new money and attracted nearly 50,000 out-of-state visitors to Arizona.

April 14, 1996 — The Eighth Annual Fox 10 Fiesta Bowl 3-on-3 Street Basketball Tournament smashes its own record with 962 teams battling for great prizes and bragging rights. Jill Williams of Glendale nails a 3-point basket and walks away with a $5,000 scholarship as part of the Fiesta Bowl $5,000 shot. Nick Moore of Dallas, Texas claims the slam-dunk title with an electrifying dunk over three chairs and a ball rack.

Sept. 21, 1996 — The Fiesta Bowl is awarded the coveted Pinnacle Award, considered the most prestigious award in the festival industry, for the 25th Anniversary campaign at the International Festivals and Events Association (IFEA) convention in Orlando, Fla. The award was the bowl's first ever and included competition from 834 entries from around the globe.

Oct. 30, 1996 — Olympic gold medalist and Arizona native Kerri Strug is announced as the Grand Marshal for the 26th Annual MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade. Strug earned international attention when her vault on an injured ankle in the final portion of team competition helped the U.S. gymnastics team seize its first ever gold medal during the 1996 Olympic games.

Dec. 31, 1996 — The Fiesta Bowl takes over full operations of the Tempe Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Block Party, and the event is a huge success with national and local eyes focused on Tempe, Arizona. Highlighting the evening is a 225-pound replica of a Tostitos tortilla chip plunged into a giant jar of salsa at midnight to officially ring in the New Year. National entertainment acts, including the Gin Blossoms, Monkees, Del Amitri and LeAnn Rimes, rock downtown Tempe in the most celebrated Block Party ever.

July 22, 1997 — The Tostitos Fiesta Bowl receives official notification that it has been selected to the new College Football Bowl Alliance, guaranteeing one national championship and games with the nation's top teams over at least the next four years. The Fiesta Bowl is joined by the Sugar, Orange and Rose bowls in this new system, which will guarantee a true national championship game for the first time ever.

Sept. 23, 1997 — In an unprecedented move in college athletics, the Arizona Sports Foundation, the entity that owns and operates the Fiesta Bowl, signs a letter of intent to acquire the Tucson-based Copper Bowl. It marks the first time in history that two bowl games will be operated under the same umbrella.

Oct. 9, 1997 — The Fiesta Bowl announces that it will host college football's first unified national championship game on Jan. 4, 1999, at Sun Devil Stadium. As the highest finisher in the bidding process, the Fiesta Bowl has its choice of which year to host the title game.

Nov. 6, 1997 — The Arizona Sports Foundation announces that Tucson's bowl game will be called the Insight.com Bowl, after signing Insight Enterprises, Inc., as the title sponsor to a multi-year agreement. Formerly known as the Copper Bowl, the Insight.com Bowl becomes the first known sporting event named after a World Wide Web site.

Dec. 31, 1997 — For the first time in the Fiesta Bowl's history, the game is held on New Year's Eve, creating an electrifying evening in downtown Tempe with the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and the Tempe Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Block Party being held at the same time. Kansas State quarterback Michael Bishop is the star of the game, while The B-52's highlight the Block Party, which attracts a record 175,000 people.

Sept. 28, 1998 — The Fiesta Bowl calendar of events, featuring 51 year-round spectator and participatory events, is branded the Fiesta Bowl Festival.

June 1, 1998 — The Fiesta Bowl reaches an agreement with the Football Writers Association of America to host an annual Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Banquet in the Phoenix area beginning in January 1999. The banquet will recognize the nation's top coach, as selected by the FWAA, and Eddie Robinson, the winningest coach in college football history.

Dec. 15, 1998 — Heisman Trophy winners Ricky Williams and Tony Dorsett are announced as co-grand marshals for the 28th Annual MicroAge Fiesta Bowl Parade. The two running backs were the talk of the college football season, as Williams broke Dorsett's 22-year-old record for career rushing yards. It is also announced that the STS-95 NASA Astronaut crew, featuring American hero John Glenn, will serve as the Honorary Grand Marshals for the parade.

Jan. 4, 1999 — Tennessee completes its best season in school history with a 23-16 victory over Florida State in front of a Fiesta Bowl-record 80,470 fans in the first unified national championship game in college football history. Tennessee's Peerless Price proves worthy of his name with four receptions for a career-high 199 yards, including a 79-yard game-clinching touchdown reception in the fourth quarter. Vice President Al Gore is one of several celebrities on hand in a game that ABC televises in prime time on Monday night.

Jan. 14, 1999 — Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer is presented with the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year trophy at the inaugural America West Airlines Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Banquet at the Arizona Biltmore Resort.

May 13, 1999 — The Tostitos Fiesta Bowl announces that the 1999 national championship game between Tennessee and Florida State generated a record economic impact of $133 million and attracted 69,000 out-of-state visitors, according to a study by the Arizona State University College of Business.

The DUX® bed You'll thank us in the morning™

When was the last time you woke up feeling totally restored? If you wake up tired and aching, it could be you need a better bed, a bed that supports your spine in a natural position for correct sleep posture. DUX® of Sweden has studied ways to combine the science of healthful sleep with the ultimate in comfort. Come in and try the uncompromising DUX bed.

It's the bed your back has been aching for.

Lying on a firm bed, the spine is curved.

Lying on a sagging bed, the spine is curved.

In a DUX bed, the spine rests in a natural position.

 Steps:

1. Say hello to the referees before the game and wish them well. For example, a pat on the butt accompanied by, "Have a good one today, Ref," would not be out of line. "Are you getting taller or is it the vertical stripes? Whatever it is, you look great," could also work wonders.
2. Scream the words, "Good call, Ref!" at least three times whenever an official makes a call that benefits your team. He knows that you're not an impartial judge, but your hope is that over time, he gets conditioned to making good calls for your team because he likes positive reinforcement.
3. Vary your approach. If you know the referee's name, use it when complimenting his performance to another fan. For example, imagine you're in the stands watching the instant replay on the stadium big screen, and the referee who just made the call is standing within earshot. You might turn to another fan and say, "Man, that was a nice call by John Doe. I don't think I've ever seen him make a bad call."

 Tips:

- Be generous. When it comes to compliments, aim high, aim big, and aim often. If the referee has a big ego, he'll believe all your compliments and love you for saying them. If nothing else, your continuous stream of compliments will serve as comic relief and win you favor in his eyes simply because you're having a good time.
- If you get close enough to pat a referee on the butt before the game, make sure it's a simple, uncomplicated pat. Don't pat and clinch, pat and wipe, pat and hold, pat and linger, or pat multiple times. You wouldn't want to give him the wrong idea.

 Warnings:

Once a game has commenced, don't touch a referee at all. Touching a referee during the game could cost your team a serious penalty.

 Shopping List:

- ☐ Candy
- ☐ Book "Football Manners and You"
- ☐ Referee jersey

LAST YEAR'S GAME

Peerless is defined as "without equal; matchless." On Monday, January 4, in the first Bowl Championship Series championship game, Tennessee's Peerless Price proved worthy of his name.

The senior wide receiver caught four passes for a career-high 199 yards, including a 79-yard game-clinching touchdown reception in the fourth quarter, to lead the Volunteers to a 23-16 victory over Florida State.

The win gave Tennessee the school's second national championship of all-time - the first came in 1951 - and lifted the Vols to a 13-0 record, the best in school history.

With thousands of orange-wearing, Rocky Top-singing Tennessee fans among the Fiesta Bowl-record crowd of 80,470, the Volunteers jumped ahead 14-0 with two touchdowns in a 25-second span in the second quarter.

The first touchdown was set up by a 76-yard pass from Volunteer quarterback Tee Martin to Price to take the ball at Florida State's 12-yard line. Four plays later, Martin hit fullback Shawn Bryson out of the backfield for a four-yard touchdown pass. On the Seminoles' next possession, Tennessee cornerback Dwayne Goodrich intercepted a pass and returned it 54 yards for a touchdown.

Florida State came back with nine unan-

After a scoreless third quarter, Martin threw a perfect pass down the right sideline that Price caught and ran the distance for a 79-yard touchdown reception. Jeff Hall added a 23-yard field goal for Tennessee, and Florida State quarterback Marcus Outzen ran seven yards for a touchdown for the final margin.

Price set Fiesta Bowl records for longest reception (79 yards) and highest average per catch (49.7 yards). He was named the offensive player of the game, while Goodrich was honored with the defensive player of the game, despite missing the second half with an ankle injury.

Tennessee's win last year gave the school its second national championship ever and lifted the Vols to a school-best 13-0 final record.

The Miami Hurricanes were voted the nation's top team in 1989-90, but the Florida State Seminoles convinced many that they deserved the No. 1 ranking after a dominating, 41-17, victory over sixth-ranked Nebraska in Fiesta Bowl XIX.

FSU quarterback Peter Tom Willis was nearly unstoppable, racking up a Fiesta Bowl record five TD passes and then-records for passing yardage (422) and total offense (414). Florida State outscored the Cornhuskers 41-3 in the second and third quarters, which was the difference in the game.

Willis, the offensive player of the game, threw TD strikes of 14 and 24 yards to Lawrence Dawsey, while also throwing two scoring passes to tight end Reggie Johnson.

Nebraska actually took the early lead in the game, scoring on a nine-yard pass from Gerry Gdowski to Morgan Gregory.

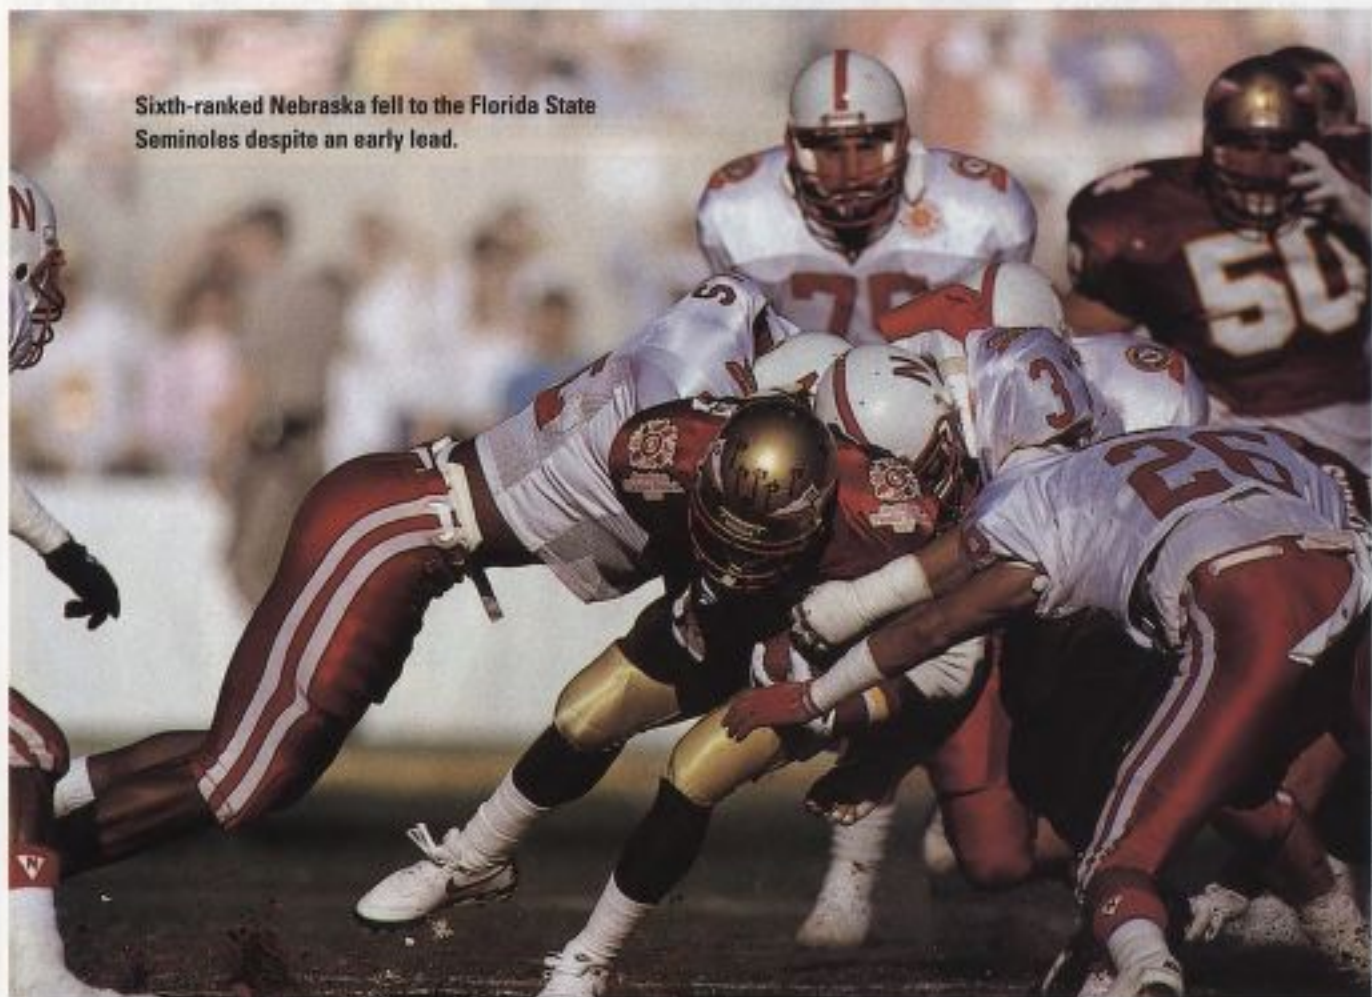

Then Florida State took command, scoring 41 of the game's next 44 points. Willis threw five touchdowns strikes, Paul Moore had a one-yard scoring run and Chris Drennan added a 39-yard field goal in FSU's scoring frenzy.

Willis completed 25 of 40 passes for 422 yards and no interceptions. Eight different receivers caught a pass for the Seminoles, as Ronald Lewis led the way with five receptions for 106 yards.

Nebraska added a touchdown in the last two minutes of the game on a two-yard run by Mickey Joseph to account for the final score.

Sixth-ranked Nebraska fell to the Florida State Seminoles despite an early lead.

Powerful Pittsburgh arrived in Arizona with an impressive record (10-1) and an equally impressive defensive unit.

The Panthers proved their point, swarming to the ball to force four turnovers to walk away with a 16-10 victory over Arizona before a crowd of 55,347.

Pitt took advantage of the turnovers, turning three of them into points.

The Panthers were in control most of the game, thanks in part to placekicker Mark Schubert, who booted field goals of 46, 36 and 46 yards to earn outstanding offensive player of the game honors.

Schubert's first field goal came late in the first quarter after both teams had spent most of the first 15 minutes trading punts. Pitt running back Fred Jacobs carried the ball three straight times to move the ball deep into Arizona's territory.

But the Arizona defense held its ground, and Schubert booted a 46-yarder to break the ice.

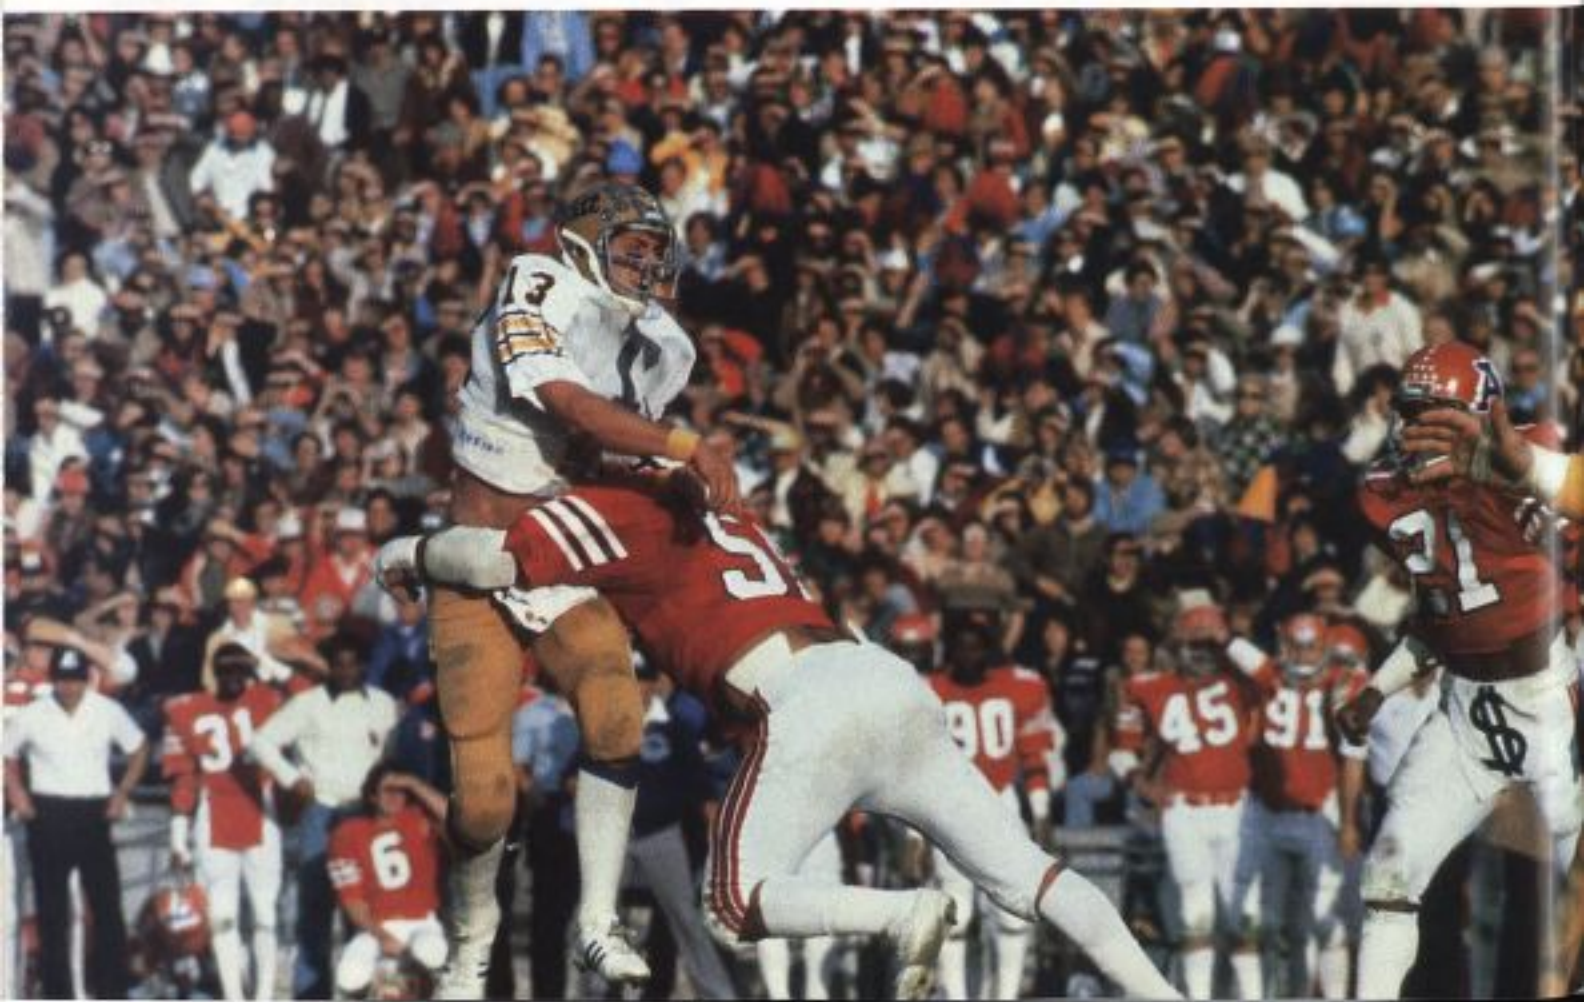

With just 1:36 left before halftime, Pitt quarterback Dan Marino began to move the Panther offense. Taking advantage of two 15-yard penalties on Arizona, Marino moved the ball to the Arizona 15. But once again the Wildcat defense would not allow a touchdown, and Schubert drilled a 36-yard field goal with only :18 left in the half.

Arizona got on the board early in the third quarter, as Brett Weber hit a 38-yard field goal to make the score 6-3.

One of the game's key plays came at the conclusion of the third quarter, when Marino tossed a 34-yard completion to Mark Dombrowski on a second-and-36. On the third-and-two, Marino hit Ralph Still for 24 yards and, one play later, threw a 12-yard touchdown strike to Benjie Pryor to give the Panthers a 13-3 lead.

Arizona countered midway through the fourth quarter with a 46-yard completion on a halfback option pass from Hubert Oliver to Greg Jackson. Oliver scored on a one-yard run on the next play to narrow the Panther lead to 16-10.

After Pitt was forced to punt with 1:05 left in the game, Panther safety Terry White ended any hope for a Wildcat comeback, by picking off a pass with 58 seconds left.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE AT THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

SOUTH BEND, IN — "This is the tenth time I visited...and it never grows old," wrote Philip Hamilton of Gary, Indiana. "This was a fun experience...I would love to come back here with friends and family," proclaimed Justin Copeland of Omaha, Nebraska.

Although these words pertain to college football, they were not written in direct reference to a specific Saturday afternoon at Notre Dame Stadium or Memorial Stadium, where the Nebraska Cornhuskers play. They do, however, have everything to do with the feeling of being in a classic collegiate stadium on a crisp, cool Autumn afternoon. In actuality, these words were taken from the guest register at the College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Ind., — a place where "everyday is Saturday."

'Much Ado About . . .'

Just why are people from Connecticut to California expounding the virtues of the College Football Hall of Fame? It's simple. The Hall has something for everyone. And not just something for every football fan, something for everyone.

Capturing the attention of the entire public, not just of dyed-in-the-wool football fans, was a conscious effort of those designing the College Football Hall of Fame, which is operated by the National Football Foundation and the city of South Bend. For example, the Pigskin Pageantry area gives patrons a look at marching bands, cheerleaders, mascots, homecoming, tailgating and other football related exhibits.

However, being a Saturday afternoon football junkie doesn't hurt if you are considering a trip to the Hall. For people like this, just approaching the Hall and crossing Gridiron Plaza matches the excitement and anticipation one feels climbing the first hill of a roller coaster. Over the years, the plaza has hosted a variety of special events, from the annual Enshrinement ceremonies and festival, to impromptu games of touch-football and football clinics.

Inside the shrine, the heart and soul of the museum awaits in the Hall's Stadium Theater, where still pictures and video are integrated into a dramatic 36-degree presentation of the pageantry and excitement of college football. This powerful video experience is just the beginning of all the College Football Hall of Fame offers to visitors.

The Hall of Champions combines impressive multimedia capabilities with football memorabilia honoring the accomplishments of each inductee and chronicling special events in the history of the game. Within the display area for each decade of college football history, visitors can access a touch-screen video kiosk to call up biographical information on individual Hall of Famers.

The Locker Room entertains visitors with a behind-the-scenes look at how coaches have trained, motivated and inspired their players through the years, while interactive strategy quizzes and hands-on skill displays are designed to encourage the entire family to be more than spectators. A favorite for many closet sportscasters is "You Call the Play", an interactive display which puts fans "behind the mike" with the opportunity to sit in a simulated press box and describe the football action unfolding before them.

Kids and adults alike can then see how their basic physical skills match up with those of a college athlete in the Training Room where would-be players check their height, weight, vertical leap, agility, upper-body strength, balance, flexibility and reaction time. Finally, it's off to the Practice Field where visiting "players" can test their fundamental skills of football in a series of interactive and physically challenging drills.

Isn't That Special

Those fortunate enough to live within a close proximity of the Hall also take advantage of the many special events that take place throughout the year. In addition to the annual Enshrinement Festival, where the Hall welcomes 20-25 college greats to the facility each August, special events such as the Gridiron Legends luncheon series, Super Saturdays, College Team Tours, cheerleading competitions and the traditional Punt, Pass & Kick competition, help ensure a busy schedule at the Hall year-round.

A particular favorite to those in the area are the 'Legends' luncheons. Sponsored by the College Football Hall of Fame, National Football Foundation and Norwest Bank, the Gridiron Legend series headlines former Hall of Fame inductees, as well as other college football dignitaries.

Scheduled on a monthly basis from February to May, the luncheons are headlined by speakers such as Archie Griffin, Lloyd Carr, Archie Manning and Lynn Swann.

'Parting is Such Sweet Sorrow'

Orange County Register reporter Steve Bischoff could have borrowed these immortal words from Shakespeare to summarize his trip to the College Football Hall of Fame in October of 1997 prior to the Notre Dame-USC game at Notre Dame Stadium.

"I got up early on a Saturday morning...and spent the first couple of hours of the day visiting the large three-level building in downtown South Bend. And I can tell you this, I did not want to leave. The Hall has more great memorabilia, more interactive displays than any sports museum I have ever seen."

Although the few hours Bischoff spent in the Hall of Fame proved to be too short, he vowed to return to the Hall of Fame. And when he does return, he will see not only those exhibits and items that captured his attention the first time, but he will also discover new and interesting displays and memorabilia as well. The Hall of Fame's collections manager Kent Stephens estimates that nearly 50 percent of the memorabilia, and 30 percent of the exhibits in the Hall are changed annually.

Perhaps Bernie Kish, executive director of the College Football Hall of Fame said it best when he summed up the Hall of Fame experience at a recent media brunch. "... We guarantee whether you have been there for the first time, or you're back for a return visit, you will cherish the experience."

Dean Blevins

STEVE FENN

Dean Blevins joined ABC Sports as a commentator in October, 1991. The versatile Blevins has served as an expert analyst and sideline reporter for ABC Sports' coverage of college football.

Blevins is generally considered to be the leading sports journalist in his home state of Oklahoma, seen and heard through a myriad of vehicles: sports director for KATT-FM; daily analyst for The Sports Animal 104.9-FM, and analyst for KWTU. Blevins has authored his own fax service, the bi-weekly "Dean Blevins Insider." He has hosted numerous radio and TV shows for coaches, from Oklahoma State basketball coach Eddie Sutton to former Dallas Cowboys coach Barry Switzer, and in 1994, he hosted the weekly TV show with owner Jerry Jones. This season, Blevins' opinions were available on ABC's Bowl Championship Series website. He writes a weekly column, in addition to participating in an online Weekly Pick 'Em pool with ten other ABC announcers.

Tim Brant

STEVE FENN

Tim Brant rejoined ABC Sports as a commentator in May, 1991.

The multi-faceted Brant serves as an expert analyst on ABC Sports' coverage of college football. He also is the morning weekday co-host for ABC-owned WMAL Radio in Washington, D.C.

Brant worked a variety of broadcasts at CBS Sports, including the NFL, the NBA, the NCAA Basketball Tournament; served as host of Winter-Fest and the Emmy-Award winning Tour de France, demonstrating his versatility in play-by-play, expert analysis, reporting and studio hosting. At CBS Sports, while working with Jim Nantz, he was listed by USA Today as college football's top analyst.

Prior to joining CBS in 1987, Brant spent four years at ABC Sports, where he covered college football with Keith Jackson. He also worked the 1984 Winter and Summer Olympics, USFL play-by-play, the Pro Bowl and "ABC's Wide World of Sports."

SUN DEVIL STADIUM

"HOME OF THE TOSTITOS FIESTA BOWL"

Since 1971, Sun Devil Stadium has been the site of the Fiesta Bowl. Just like the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Football Classic itself, the stadium has grown and has had the opportunity to host many of professional and college football's greatest moments.

The facility has played host to all four Fiesta Bowl national championship games, and was the site of Super Bowl XXX in January 1996.

The most recent additions to Sun Devil Stadium were completed in 1989. A three-tiered press box with luxury sky boxes was completed in August 1989. Sun Devil Stadium's current capacity, 73,471, makes it the largest on-campus stadium in the Pac-10 Conference.

Sun Devil Stadium was ideally placed between two small mountains - the Tempe Buttes - which have comfortably accommodated the stadium's growth. Originally built in 1958, additions to the stadium began in 1976, increasing the capacity to 57,222. In 1977, the capacity was increased to 70,491.

During the 1977 stadium expansion, design features enabled the building to be modernized without light supports, sound system supports or construction pillars in the viewing line of the spectators.

In 1988, the expansion added a large seating section that completed the oval of the stadium and added nearly 1,700 seats. Also added to the south end of the stadium was a state-of-the-art scoreboard and four-color video replay board.

Following the 1992 Fiesta Bowl, Arizona State University lowered the stadium's playing surface approximately four feet and widened the field considerably to enhance player safety and for the benefit of sideline
